Fresh protests as Ranil wins president vote

DILRUKSHI HANDUNNETTI @ Colombo

THE Sri Lankan Parliament on Wednesday elected acting president Ranil Wickremesinghe as the country's eighth president by a majority of 52 votes. He will be sworn in on Friday at the Parliamentary Complex in Sri Jayawardenepura Kotte, its political capital.

Wickremesinghe's victory yet again showed the vice-like grip the Rajapaksa clan has on power. Despite former president Gotabaya Rajapaksa fleeing the country following massive protests, his ruling party managed to get his proxy Wickremesinghe elected as successor, though the latter belongs to a different party that has just one vote in the 225-member parliament.

As for the protesters from GotaGoGama, the anti-government protest venue in front of the presidential secretariat, they vowed to continue their agitation demanding the resignation of the new president.

Wickremesinghe secured 134 votes, Dulles Alahapperuma 82, and Anura Kumara Dissanayake 3. Four votes were declared invalid and two MPs, S Kajendran and Gajendrakumar Ponnambalam, abstained.

Speaking after being declared the winner, Wickremesinghe said the country's youth were demanding change and their aspirations should be addressed in carving out a new future while facing the current formidable challenges before the nation.

Analysts see Wickremesinghe's tenure to be the hardest following the total collapse of the island's economy coupled with political instability.

Responding to the election of a new president, the IMF said it would send its team to Colombo to pursue discussions the moment a government is in place. Lanka is facing its worst economic crisis since Independence.

Hours after the election, the Indian mission in Colombo said, "we will continue to be supportive of the quest of the people of Sri Lanka for stability and economic recovery, through democratic means and values, established democratic institutions and constitutional framework."

SUBHASH CHANDRA N S & PRAKASH SAMAGA @ Karwar

IN a tragic incident, an overspeeding ambulance from Honnavar lost control and rammed a toll booth, killing the patient it was carrying and three others at Shiroor in Udupi district. The CCTV footage of the incident has gone viral. The ambulance was on its way to Kundapur when the incident occurred. It was coming from Honnavar with a patient who had cardiac issues.

The patient, Gajanan Ganapathi Naik (45), a native of Hadageri village, about 15 km from Honnavar town, had been admitted to a private hospital. The doctors at the hospital suggested that he should be taken to another hospital in Dakshina Kannada for further treatment should reach the hospital within a specific time. The job to take him to Udupi hospital was entrusted to the ambulance driver Roshan.

In a rush to reach the hospital early and save the life of the patient, the driver was overspeeding and lost control which resulted in the tragedy.

The CCTV footage shows the driver losing control leading to the vehicle turning turtle and rolling over a toll booth cabin.

The impact of the accident was such that the ambulance door opened, throwing out the patient and his two attendants, including the patient's wife. Sensing danger, a toll booth staffer managed to escape. However, another person who was trying to remove the barricade so that the vehicle could pass was knocked down by the ambulance.

ZUBAIR GETS BAIL, WALKS OUT OF TIHAR

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ALT News co-founder Mohammad Zubair was on Wednesday released from Tihar Jail, hours after the Supreme Court granted him bail in all the FIRs lodged against him in Uttar Pradesh for alleged hate speech.

A bench of justices D Y Chandrachud, Surya Kant, and A S Bopanna said as Zubair was subjected to a fairly sustained investigation by the Delhi Police, there was no reason to put him to endless rounds of custody. "We find no reason or justification for the deprivation of the liberty of the petitioner to persist any further," it said.

The court transferred all the FIRs lodged against Zubair in Uttar Pradesh to be investigated by the Delhi Police. They will be clubbed with the FIRs already lodged by a special cell of the Delhi Police.

The court also disbanded a Special Investigation Team formed by the state government to probe the FIRs.

Refusing Uttar Pradesh government's request to restraint Zubair from tweeting, the bench said, "It's like asking a lawyer not to argue. Whatever he does, he will be responsible in law, but we can't ask a journalist not to write. We cannot stop him from tweeting."

The court stipulated that he be released immediately upon depositing ₹20,000 as bail bond with Chief Metropolitan Magistrate at the Patiala House Court. "Immediately upon the presentation of the bail bonds, the Superintendent at the Tihar Jail shall take necessary steps to ensure that the petitioner is released," it said.

Earlier, Zubair's lawyer Vrinda Grover argued that some of the tweets that are being probed by the Delhi Police are also being investigated by the UP Police in different FIRs lodged across the state, adding that the moment a court grants relief to Zubair in one FIR, another one gets activated.

Eshwarappa cleared in suicide case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

UDUPI police, who were investigating a case against former RDPR minister and BJP leader KS Eshwarappa who was facing charges of abetting the suicide of contractor Santhosh Patil from Belagavi, have cleared the former minister in the case. The police filed an 85-page long 'B' report before the 42nd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, Bengaluru, which is the special court for cases against elected representatives.

It may be recalled that Patil had written to PM Narendra Modi claiming to have invested Rs 4 crore on building roads in his village in Belagavi based on oral instructions by Eshwarappa. He had asked the PM to direct Eshwarappa to settle his bills. Accusing the minister of cheating him, Patil had alleged that he had to offer Rs 15 lakh in bribe to the rural development department to get paid.

Reacting, Eshwarappa said, "I denied the charges when it were made against me. With the blessings of mother Goddess Chowdeshwari, I got the clean chit and am now free of all the charges".

CAUGHT NAPPING

Microlight crash hushed up, DGCA clueless

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

A microlight aircraft crash-landed on Saturday a few seconds after take off. The accident was hushed up and not reported to the Director General Civil Aviation (DGCA) or the police, the fire authorities or the Karnataka government as mandated by law. What is worse is that the pilot and the owner clandestinely dismantled the aircraft and cleared it. The matter has now come to the notice of the DGCA which has launched an inquiry. DGCA Deputy Director V Narayan said, "Please give us details available with your newspaper regarding the incident."

Strangely the Government Flying Training School (GFTS) authorities claimed they did not know anything about it. Basava Reddy, Secretary, GFTS claimed ignorance about the incident. According to law, no aircraft can be removed from the Jakkur aerodrome without the permission from GFTS.

The blue-coloured microlight, with registration number VT-UMJ was attempting to take off on a sortie at 10.30 am on Saturday and within seconds crash-landed. The right wheel veered off as the aircraft taxied off the runway, an eyewitness said.

Karnataka opposes TN's claim on Mekedatu in SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

OPPOSING the construction of a reservoir at Mekedatu across the inter-state Cauvery River, the Tamil Nadu government on Wednesday submitted before the Supreme Court that the dam will "severely impact" the water flow coming to the state. "They (Karnataka) are proposing to impound some water at a place called Mekedatu, which according to us will severely impact the amount of delivery of water to us at Biligundlu," senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for Tamil Nadu, said.

He said Tamil Nadu is a lower riparian state and if the water flow is obstructed, it will affect the delivery of water to the state.

However, the Karnataka government refuted claims made by its neighbouring state. The Karnataka government told a bench headed by Justice A M Khanwilkar that the reservoir project is to come up within the state and there is no question of impacting in any manner the water flow as directed by the apex court.

After hearing arguments, the bench posted the matter for hearing on July 26 and issued notice on the application filed by Tamil Nadu.

DISCONTENT BREWING IN YOGI 2.0

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AMID the stench of corruption, rumblings of discontent have started emerging from within the Yogi 2.0 government barely four months after it was sworn into office.

While Dinesh Khatik, junior minister of Jal Shakti, announced his resignation in a huff on Wednesday, Cabinet minister for PWD Jitin Prasada is said to be fuming over punitive action against his officer on special duty (OSD) and five other senior officials after a probe report confirmed irregularities in his department and corruption in transfer and posting of engineers.

Prasada's OSD Anil Kumar Pandey was sacked on Monday. He is Prasada's Man Friday, having been with him since he was a Union minister in UPA II. Also, five senior officers of the department were suspended.

Khatik, a two-time MLA from Hastinapur, sent his resignation letter to Union Home Minister Amit Shah, alleging he was a victim of bureaucratic indifference. He complained that officials at the level of principal secretary neither listened to him nor informed him about meetings and other developments as he belonged to a Scheduled Caste.

Khatik also flagged corruption in departmental transfers and postings. He went on to allege that the prestigious Namami Gange project was mired in corruption.

As for Prasada, sources said he met Yogi Adityanath on Tuesday to complain about the sacking and sought time from Amit Shah to apprise him on the matter.

For the record though, Prasada rejected claims of discontent saying he was working under Adityanath who had the policy of zero tolerance to corruption. "In case of anomalies, action is imperative," he said.

W Ghats as buffer zone: 'Secret' draft underway

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WHILE many politicians are up against a recent notification issued by the Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change over declaration of sensitive areas in the Western Ghats, the forest department is quietly preparing a draft to declare a 10 km buffer zone around forests where it is still to be implemented, as per the recent directions of the Supreme Court.

The apex court directions have not caught the attention of many so far. Conservationists, however, said it will not go down well with the state government, as some of the Supreme Court directions are quite stern and their practical implementation could be a challenge. Many citizens and activists have already moved the Supreme Court challenging the orders. Hearing the Case Number 202/1995, TN Godhavarman Thirumplad versus Union of India and others, the apex court on June 3, 2022, stated, "In respect of sanctuaries or national parks for which the proposal of a state or union territory has not been given, the 10 kilometres buffer zone as ESZ, as indicated in the order passed by this Court on December 4, 2006 in the case of Goa Foundation and also contained in the Guidelines of February 9, 2011 shall be implemented. Within that area, the entire set of restrictions concerning an ESZ shall operate till a final decision in that regard is arrived at." P5

Eggs, chikkis & bananas now on midday meal menu

Students of Classes 1-8 of all dists to get these for 46 days in a year

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Department of School Education and Literacy announced that eggs, bananas or peanut chikkis (supplementary nutrition) would be included in the midday meal scheme as part of 'PM Poshan shakti Nirman' for students of Classes 1-8 studying in government and aided schools for 46 days a year in all districts.

The scheme was earlier implemented for 46 days under "flexibility for innovative intervention" programme in a few districts of Kalyana Karnataka at a cost of Rs 4,494.29 lakh to address malnourishment. Following the success of the scheme, Commissioner, Department of Public Instruction, Dr Vishal R, had submitted a proposal to the State Government to implement it for students of Classes 1-8 in all the districts for 100 days. The government, however, approved it for 46 days. Meanwhile, Education Minister B C Nagesh has clarified that no student will not be forced to consume eggs. "Vegetarians can choose between chikkis and bananas," he said.

44 'unqualified' teachers sacked by civic body

ENS @BENGALURU

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has sacked 44 teachers for not being qualified enough to teach students in Palike-run institutions. BBMP Special Commissioner (Welfare) Ram Prasat Manohar told TNIE that teachers who did not complete or clear B.Ed, NET, SLET, UGC or M.Phil and failed to follow professional norms in recruitment process have been replaced.

According to official sources, the agency hiring teachers for BBMP was told two months ago about the changes that the Palike wants as per the state government directives and once that was realised, the teachers on contract were replaced. If these teachers fulfil other criteria and if the agency recommends their names again, the Palike will consider hiring them, the official said. The BBMP issued a notice which said that following instructions from Chief Commissioner to Crystal Infosystem Private Limited, an agency arranging teachers on contract basis for BBMP, that by 21/07/2022, replace 44 teachers teaching in different Palike institutions.

Questions are now being raised against the agency and also the BBMP education department for not rectifying this earlier and playing with the careers of students. Accusing the Palike of violating the 'Term of Reference' under Right To Education Act in hiring teachers, education expert, Niranjan Aradhya, said officials concerned who had approved the hiring should be held responsible as many children studying in BBMP institutions are impacted.

Govt's move to merge 13K schools flayed

BENGALURU: The All India Democratic Students Organisation (AIDSO) has criticised the decision of the state government to merge 13,800 schools which have lesser than 25 students. AIDSO said that priority must be to improve the quality of education rather than closing the schools. Primary and Secondary Education Minister B C Nagesh's had admitted that the enrolment in these schools, specially in rural areas, is low due to quality of education. "The education minister has accepted that lack of facilities in government schools is the cause for low admission rate. Improving the facilities at the schools should have been the government's priority. The current academic year has witnessed serious crisis where 10 lakh students dropped out of schools in the state," said AIDSO state secretary Ajay Kamath in a statement. He alleged that the "anti-school" scheme is part of NEP implementation. The organisation has begun a nationwide signature campaign against its implementation, he added.

Days after 'reward' from BBMP, street vendors face eviction

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TWO days after SVANidhi programme held to honour eight street vendors who repaid Rs 10,000 loan each to the BBMP, the Palike has said it will now clear vendors from main road and sub-arterial roads in the city. The vendors association has slammed the BBMP over the decision.

Confirming the move, BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said there is a provision in the law that street vendors should be empowered, but at the same time, hawkers cannot be allowed at main roads, footpaths, sub-arterial roads and outer ring roads.

"If vendors are allowed in these places, they will attract pedestrians who will cross the roads which poses risk and hence they will be cleared from these roads," said Girinath, adding, the vendors will be allowed at roads which have less traffic, especially during evening hours.

FOR REPRESENTATION PURPOSE

Terming the move "harassment", the Bengaluru District Vendors Organisation said it would hit the vendors hard. The irony is that the statement comes two days after SVANidhi programme in which eight vendors were honoured for repaying Rs 10,000 loan to the Palike at an event which was held to encourage vendors to maintain cleanliness, package their food better and go digital.

"The government does not want us to improve. When we suffered during the lockdown, instead of giving us financial assistance, they trapped us into loan business. To earn Rs 10,000, a person has to spend Rs 1,000, of which Rs 500 will be the interest amount and Rs 150 the surety bond. Now they want vendors to go away from roads. The Palike should not treat us like encroachers. We run our businesses for limited hours," said S Babu, president, Bengaluru Zilla Beedi Vyaparigala Sanghatane.

Corporators' names sent to govt for quota

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH elections due, the BBMP has sent names of all elected members from 1993 till date to the government, pertaining to reservation in BBMP wards.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said the budget for wards will be revised, and each ward will get Rs 3 crore. Based on a map and delimitation, new ward offices will be built and a proposal has been sent to the government to induct another 400 officials into the BBMP administration.

On the issue of illegal flexes resurfacing regularly, the commissioner said that every day, thousands of flexes are being removed and a decision has been taken to act against those who violate the High Court direction in this regard. With the department raiding shops, godowns and manufacturing units, the commissioner said that as single-use plastic is banned, the Palike is seizing material and imposing penalties.

Residents' forum to organise signature, blood donation campaign

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN a fresh development to the contentious Chamarajpet Idgah Miadan issue, Chamarajpet Nagarika Vedike Vakoota is organising a signature campaign to garner support to get the rights to host religious events and programmes on Independence Day.

The forum will also organise a blood donation camp on Sunday. The residents say they aim to mobilise thousands of signatures and send it to Governor Thaawarchand Gehlotand Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai urging them to help the residents in this regard.

"Last week, we organised

Chamarajpet bandh and now we have this signature campaign. We have collected the BBMP document which calls the playground a Palike property. Hence, we demand that permission be given to hold functions such as Ganesha Chaturthi and Independence Day. On Sunday, hundreds will participate in a blood donation camp," said Shashank, a Chamarajpet resident. Recently, Bengaluru Central MP PC Mohan had written to BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath to give the nod to use the playground for functions like Ambedkar Jayanti, Independence Day, Kannada Rajyotsava and other government functions. The BBMP has sent notices to the Wakf Board asking it to submit additional documents to check with the legal department to decide on the ownership of the land. The board failed to apply for khatha since 1965 after the government gazette notified 2.5 acres of Idgah land as Wakf land. The Palike had contended that 1974 records show the land as a Palike property and is awaiting the board's response to its notice to prove the ownership.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Some of you will be subject to a blinding flash of genius, one which may have something to do with an overseas connection, perhaps, or maybe a major issue of principle. For once, you'll be able to see both the wood and the trees, grasping the wider vision and coping with the smallest detail.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's still seems inevitable that other people will have the advantage, perhaps because they hold the key to lost information and forgotten decisions. You may have to bow to pressure at home and let partners have their way. Partnership holds the key to everything.

Medics unwilling to serve in villages, rues Ashwath

No shortage of funds or doctors, but healthcare in villages still lacking

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru:

HIGHER Education and Skill Development Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan on Wednesday expressed hopelessness on the lack of doctors opting to serve in rural areas.

The minister, speaking at the 10th edition of the Life Sciences and Healthcare Innovation Forum (LHIF) organised by National Association of Software and Service Companies (NASSCOM), said that quality must be ensured in education, healthcare and government services. "During and post-Covid, we have seen how difficult and challenging it was to implement and ensure quality and affordable healthcare for all," he said.

He also lamented the lack of government services in rural areas. "As people's representatives, we feel very disappointed that we must address this inability to reach out to rural areas. We are spending more than Rs 10,000 crore on healthcare and medical education in Karnataka, and more than Rs 6,000 crore on government healthcare. Karnataka has no shortage of doctors and technicians but no one volunteers to go to rural areas," he said.

He also lauded the efforts of doctors and healthcare professionals who live and work in rural areas, saying they need appreciation for improving the health of the area.

The minister was speaking alongside NASSCOM president Debjani Ghosh, who said efforts must be made to improve digital technology and also digitise analog equipment and technology. "Healthcare plays an important role not just because of its economic value but the impact it can have on drug discovery and improving the quality of human lives. We have what it takes to lead the development of quality healthcare," she said.

IAS officer moves HC for bail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ACCUSED IAS officer J Manjunath, former Deputy Commissioner of Bengaluru Urban, moved the Karnataka High Court for bail in a bribery case registered by the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) under the Prevention of Corruption Act, on May 18, 2022.

Hearing the bail petition, Justice HP Sandesh on Wednesday ordered notice to the ACB and posted the matter for hearing on July 27. Manjunath, who is in custody since July 4, moved a bail plea before the special court, which rejected it on July 11.

He claimed he was falsely implicated in the crime for extraneous reasons. The bail plea also stated that the ACB had arrested two accused -- the second one accepted a bribe of Rs 5 lakh at the instructions of the first one, and there was no talk of Manjunath's involvement in the entire episode.

His petition claimed the charge may have been based on the observation by the high court while hearing the bail petition of PS Mahesh, Deputy Tahsildar and Manjunath's assistant, and also due to media reports. The investigating officer has made him accused no. 3, though he was cooperating with the investigation, the petition said.

After Chhattisgarh, K'taka to buy 'gomutra' from farmers

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

TAKING a cue from the Chhattisgarh government, the Karnataka Animal Husbandry Department is planning to buy 'gomutra' (cow urine) and cow dung from farmers to help them get additional income. Initially, the department will source them from the proposed goshalas. It plans to use the cow urine and dung to make various products that can also generate employment.

The state government, which at present is funding some of the private goshalas, is planning to set up at least 100 goshalas in the coming days. A few of them have started already. The department has already identified land for goshalas at all districts that will also have gomalas for grazing. Taking it forward, the government is now proposing to make it profitable for farmers. Recently, the Chhattisgarh government decided to procure gomutra for Rs 4 per litre and cow dung for Rs 2 per kg from farmers who are into rearing cattle.

Speaking to TNIE, Animal Husbandry Minister Prabhu Chavan said at present they are setting up the facilities like goshalas. "There are many private mutts and organisations, including Rashtrottana Parishath, that are converting gomutra and cow dung into useful products, including bio-gas, diyas, shampoos, pesticides, ointment and many more. "Once we have our own goshalas, we can collect both gomutra and cow dung in these places," he said. "We have 20 to 100 acres of land to store cow dung and turn it into units to make products.'

The minister also said a team from Karnataka will study the Chhattisgarh model. "I have visited Varanasi in Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra where they make bio-fuel. At Kinneri mutt in Maharashtra, they make 35 products which are profit-making. If we have our own units, we can help farmers," he said.

He, however, said the plans are in the initial stage. "I will also discuss this with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai."

Sources from the department said this will also help farmers who have been complaining about the burden of keeping aged cattle.

BOMMAI TAUNTS DKS ON AMBITION

Says Cong leader daydreaming of becoming CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

A day after Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee president D K Shivakumar set the cat among the pigeons by publicly expressing his desire to be the chief minister if the Congress bags majority in the upcoming Assembly polls, the BJP and JDS leaders wasted no time in ridiculing him.

While senior JDS leader and former chief minister H D Kumaraswamy stressed that Opposition leader Siddaramaiah will not allow Shivakumar's "dream to come true", Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai taunted that Shivakumar has become restless to become the CM.

"He is daydreaming of becoming the CM. As per my observation, the Congress has not allowed him to work properly even as KPCC president. In such a situation, how can he dream of becoming CM. Opposition leader Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar cannot get along with each other," he told reporters on Wednesday.

Slamming Shivakumar for his "remote-controlled CM" remark, Bommai said let the KPCC chief check what has fallen on his plate before commenting on others.

When asked about the pending GST compensation amount, which is yet to be released by the Central government, Bommai said during the pandemic for two years, there was no tax collection from the state.

"Though there was no tax collection for two years, the Centre has provided the GST compensation grants to the state. Recently, we received Rs 8,800 crore and we will receive the pending amount too in the coming days," he said.

However, the chief minister said the Central government turned down the state's request to extend the GST compensation cess regime for another two years citing legal hurdles.

District Minister S T Somashekar and MLA L Nagendra accompanied the CM.

Hariprasad takes a dig at Siddu, DKS

MANGALURU: Opposition Leader in the Legislative Council, B K Hariprasad, on Wednesday took a veiled dig at KPCC chief D K Shivakumar and Opposition Leader in the Assembly Siddaramaiah for going one up against the other to project themselves as the Congress chief ministerial candidate, saying that in the Congress tradition, the party decides the CM and not the individual. Responding to a query on the power tussle between the two leaders, Hariprasad said in the Congress, MLAs elect the chief minister after the decision of the AICC chief. To another query, he said leaders should shed their narrow mindedness. "If at all any leader thinks that he is the most powerful because of his caste, then he should build a political party of his own caste and become the chief minister," he said. ENS

CM OFFERS BAGINA AT KRS, KABINI DAMS

MYSURU: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday offered 'Bagina' (a traditional thanksgiving) to the Kabini and KRS dams after the reservoirs reached their full water capacity. This is the second time that Bommai offered bagina after becoming the chief minister. He was accompanied by his wife, Chennamma, and a host of elected representatives and officials from the district. Speaking during the event, he stressed on modernising irrigation canals of all major dams, including that of KRS, Kabini and Hemavathy, which he said will be taken up on priority, and expressed happiness that dams in the state are full to the brim. ENS

Bommai snubs Simha, MP skips Bagina event

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

MYSURU-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha seems to be facing the wrath of his own party members and senior leaders, with the latest being Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

During the Dasara high-level committee meeting in Bengaluru on Tuesday, the two-time BJP MP was caught in an embarrassing situation when a visibly angry Bommai ticked him off. Simha came up to Bommai with a letter pertaining to development work in his constituency, and the latter assured him that he would get it approved. However, Simha insisted on taking a photo of the document he had handed over. This irked Bommai, who immediately returned the document and asked him to leave if he did not trust him.

The embarrassment was all the more acute as they were in the midst of reporters, MLAs and elected representatives from Mysuru district. Simha tried to smile it off and pacify Bommai, saying he had only asked for a photograph with him. "It is tough to work with those who are 'very intelligent'," was the chief minister's sharp response, which further exposed the void between him and Simha.

A day after this incident, Simha, who was scheduled to take accompany the Chief Minister on his visit to Mysuru to offer 'Bagina' at Kabini dam, skipped the event. Sources said the MP, who was hurt with the CM's reaction, skipped the programme to express his displeasure and went to Chamarajanagar.

This is the second such incident involving Simha. A month ago, Prime Minister Narendra Modi had snubbed him during his visit to Mysuru, but embraced MLA S A Ramadas on stage amid the 'credit war' between Pratap Simha and Ramadas.

IN THE HIGH COURT

'SCAM A COBWEB OF COPS, MEDIATORS, CANDIDATES'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Arguing that the PSI scam is nothing but a cobweb involving police officers, mediators and tainted selected candidates, the State Public Prosecutor on Wednesday submitted before the Karnataka High Court that the CCTV footages obtained by the CID revealed that the tainted candidates only attended 16-20 questions out of 100, but they have been selected by tampering with the OMR sheets as indicated by the Forensic Science Laboratory Report.

Revealing this before Justice H P Sandesh, who was hearing the bail pleas and a anticipatory plea of the accused, State Public Prosecutor (SPP) V S Hegde also submitted that Additional Director General of Police Amrit Paul, who is in judicial custody now, is not at all cooperating for the investigation and that is why his statement was not recorded. Hence, an application has been filed before the magistrate for narco analysis. His mobile phone was formatted and hence it has been sent to FSL which may spread more light on the scam, he argued.

Pointing out that the Call Details Records (CDR) analysis exposed the nexus between the candidates, police officers, middlemen and money trial, the SPP said genuine candidates who have studied day and night suffered because of unscrupulous persons and hence the court has to deal them with an iron hand and ultimately send a strong message to society.

The voluntary statement of the accused revealed that they have paid Rs 85 lakh to Naveen Prasad, a police sub-inspector, who is absconding and has applied for anticipatory bail before this court and also to one manager Harsha and Head Constable Sridhar, attached to the recruitment section. Therefore, if bail is granted, it will affect further investigation, as the accused are none other than ADGP, DySP, Inspectors and mediators. Certainly they will come in the way of the investigation by destroying evidence. At this stage, they are not entitled for bail, he argued.

Assuring the court that investigation will be taken to the logical end and there will be no scope for lapses, the SPP submitted that there are black sheep, but that doesn't mean the entire system is bad. "Certainly it is our duty to identify the black sheep and punish them. That is why investigation is being conducted scientifically," he added.

Bail orders on Friday

After hearing the arguments of the counsels of the accused, the court reserved the judgment. The order will be dictated on July 22 or pronounced on the same day, the court added.

CM preps for meet with PM

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

WITH Prime Minister Narendra Modi likely to call for a virtual meeting of chief ministers from across the nation later this month, to inquire about the progress in implementation of the Union government's many welfare schemes, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai held a meeting with senior officers of the state government. They included additional chief secretaries, principal secretaries and other top bureaucrats.

Emerging from the meeting, Bommai said the Budget declaration and other decisions need to be ratified, and this has already been done. He wanted the number of decision-making levels to be minimised to make implementation swifter. The lacunae in the system must be identified, like BPL cards which are unused for availing ration. Bommai also spoke of redundant laws which serve no purpose, and that administrative measures need to be streamlined.

Bommai wanted budgetary allocation benefits to reach the last person, and Union government schemes to reach saturation. Those intended to be beneficiaries should not be excluded because of tardy implementation, he told the officials.

"We have prepared a format and information is being sent to the Union government. Schemes like Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchai Yojana, Swamitva, Raitha Sanman Nidhi and others have to be implemented effectively and with speed," he said.

ZP, TP polls: Commissions to submit reports to SC on July 22

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

ELECTIONS to the 30 zilla panchayats and 176 taluk panchayats, which were due in May-June, have gained momentum as the commission on delimitation and political reservation for OBCs will submit its reports to the Supreme Court on July 22.

This was revealed by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai during his visit to Mysuru to participate in the Goddess Chamundeshwari Vardanthi and to offer Bagina to Kapila and Cauvery rivers on Wednesday.

Speaking to media persons, Bommai said the Reservation and Delimitation Commissions will submit its reports to the Supreme Court on July 22. "Based on the SC's directions, elections for the taluk panchayats, zilla panchayats and Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike will be held," he said.

He also added, "We will also hold the Mysuru mayor's election after receiving the Backward Commission's report on the reservations."

The process of determining reservation for OBCs and completing the delimitation of wards across the 30 ZPs and 176 TPs was speeded up by the state government after the Supreme Court and High Court gave deadlines to hold the local body elections. The government had expected to buy time till the 2023 Assembly elections.

However, as the deadline fixed by the courts was fast approaching, the M Lakshminarayan commission on delimitation and Justice M Bhaktavatsala commission on political reservation for OBCs had decided to submit their reports to the SC on July 22.

JDS leader Beerihundi Basavaraj told The New Indian Express that the local body elections were supposed to be completed by May 2021.

"As the term ended on May 7, 2021, the Panchayat Raj Act says that the elections must be held before the end of the term. The BJP government failed to hold even a single local body election. They postponed the local body elections citing pandemic, but conducted the by-elections. This is because the BJP does not want local leaders representing the constituencies," he said.

Basavaraj said the BJP is aware that they are politically weak in local bodies.

"BJP is scared to hold BBMP elections and Mysuru Mayor's election. The BJP has violated the deadline of the court. In the name of submitting the reports, the government is trying to cite problems in the process of delimitation and ask for more time for the elections. Courts have never asked to submit reports, it has only given deadlines to hold elections," he alleged.

Basavaraj said officials have no control and are involved in corruption. "Without local bodies, the MLAs have become supreme and enjoy the powers even in local segments and they, too, do not want elections."

Centre must rollback GST on grains: AAP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

THE Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) on Wednesday staged a protest demanding that the Union government withdraw the Goods and Services Tax (GST) on foodgrains and pulses.

In a memorandum submmitted to the government through the district administration, the party said even as people are suffering due to rising inflation, the central government has imposed GST on essential commodities such as milk, curd, and foodgrains. Imposing taxes on essential commodities when inflation is at an all-time high is a foolish decision of the government, the party said and demanded that it be withdrawn.

"The GST Council should impress upon the government on the problems being faced by the poor due to increase in prices," AAP said.

Tax on everything, except air: Ratnakar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chikkamagaluru

FORMER minister and Congress leader Kimmane Ratnakar on Wednesday said levying GST on essential goods by the Union government and soaring prices have made the lives of common people miserable. "But the NDA government, ignoring the interests of the poor, is trying to cash in by flaring communal sentiments and fueling clashes in the name of caste and religion," he told reporters here.

He said tax is being levied on all things, except air, and the value of Indian rupee has fallen drastically against the American dollar. "What's happening in Sri Lanka is a lesson for us. BJP leaders are trying to disrupt peace in the country. The Congress believes in the principle of secularism whereas the BJP wants to change the Constitution," he said.

'We're facing difficulties in mobilising resources'

CONSERVATIONISTS said the apex court order runs parallel to what the draft MoEFCC has been circulating seeking objections. While the Kasturirangan report is limited to the Western Ghats, the court order is for all forests across the state, they pointed out.

"In Karnataka, over 12 forest patches do not have the ESZ and buffer zones, where the 10 km order will be implemented. The remaining 12 wildlife sanctuaries and national parks have 0-1km ESZ already. We have started the exercise of preparing the draft. In these areas no developmental works will be permitted. The list will not just include mining, quarrying, highrises, highways, rail and road projects, but also residential buildings. If implemented, this will impact many existing towns and cities falling within the buffer zones. But we have to follow the Supreme Court orders and we are preparing a draft of each land use map to submit to the SC within three months. But we are facing difficulties in mobilising resources," an official said.

Agri, monoculture up, forest cover dips in K'taka

'New urban agglomerations noticed across major cities and towns'

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

A study report of Natural Capital Accounting and Valuation of Ecosystems on pilot ecosystem accounts for Karnataka shows that with an increase in development, agriculture and large-scale monoculture, there has been a decrease in forest cover.

The report, released on July 19, cited the example of Uttara Kananda, one of the 30 districts which has seen a drastic reduction in forest cover, from 68 per cent in 1973 to 29 per cent in 2018. The study was undertaken by IISc, IIT-Kharagpur, MoEFCC, National Statistical Office and Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation.

It stated that new urban agglomerations were noticed across major cities and towns, including Bengaluru, Mangaluru, Mysuru, Hassan and Hubballi. It quoted that monoculture in the state is 12 per cent — comprising eucalyptus, rubber, acacia, teak and areca.

Researchers pointed out that ecosystem services had also dropped. "While the total ecosystem supply indicators (TESV) was Rs 3,620 billion in 2005, it was around Rs 2,793 billion in 2019. While the TESV for agricultural ecosystems has increased, there was a much larger decrease in TESV for forest ecosystems. This 35.4 per cent reduction can be attributed to the degradation of ecosystems seen in the extent and condition accounts," said researchers.

Prof TV Ramachandra, from the Centre for Ecological Sciences, IISc, who was part of the study, pointed out that Karnataka's GDP is about Rs 10,128 billion. The TESV of the forest ecosystem is around 18.1 per cent of the GDP, and TESV from agriculture is around 10.6 per cent of GDP in Karnataka.

Researchers said that pictorial colour coding in land surface temperature showed an increase in red regions, indicating areas where there is a rise in temperatures above 38 degree Celsius, from 2006 to 2018, and reduction in blue and green regions, showing a decline in areas where maximum temperature is 28-33 degrees Celsius. They stated that this is a sign of climate change, and is due to destruction of natural landscape.

Madras HC: Hand over AIADMK HQ keys to EPS

R SIVAKUMAR @ Chennai

IN a big boost to AIADMK interim general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami, the Madras High Court on Wednesday quashed the July 11 proceedings of South Chennai Revenue Divisional Officer (RDO) to seal the AIADMK headquarters at Royapettah in Chennai following violent clashes, and ordered handing over of the property's possession to EPS.

Justice N Sathish Kumar pronounced the verdict in favour of EPS on the grounds of non-application of mind on the part of the RDO, status of actual possession of the property before the sealing order was issued, and lack of control on the property on the part of ousted leader O Panneerselvam.

"The impugned order under section 145 and 146(1) CrPC passed by the first respondent (RDO) stands quashed," the judge said, directing the RDO to handover the possession to the 'A' party i.e interim general secretary of the AIADMK, Edappadi K Palaniswami, forthwith. The judge directed EPS not to allow any cadre or supporter into the building for a period of one month from today (July 20) and directed police to give proper bandobust and round-the-clock protection to the building. The judge observed, "From the discussion narrated, 'B' party (OPS) having attempted to stall the GC meeting, created a warlike situation as a last resort for the proceedings under Section 145 CrPC to have a claim over the property."

When a member of any association or party against whom a majority has already taken decision, without it being challenged or nullified, the majority decision will prevail over, he said. Pointing out that any person said to have been expelled from primary membership cannot claim an absolute right to treat it as a dispute on the party office, creating a warlike situation by breaking open the door of the building that was kept under lock and key by the other side, Justice Sathish Kumar said, " Such act is nothing but mere trespass."

Law to provide electricity to all applicants soon: Bommai

ENS @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai announced that soon a law will be introduced to provide electricity to all applicants without looking into the land laws. Speaking at the 53rd Foundation Day of the Karnataka Power Corporation Limited (KPCL) here on Wednesday, the CM said that electricity supply was an essential service, which means that it becomes the right of the citizens to get electricity connection. "Many people are constructing houses in revenue sites and slums and it will be in violation of land laws sometimes. Citing the violation, many are being deprived of electricity connection. Our government has decided to do away with this system and has decided to introduce a law to ensure all applicants will be provided an electricity connection. I have already discussed this with the Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) and have directed to issue an order in this regard at the earliest," Bommai said.

He also said the government will be introducing a policy to encourage private companies to take up power storage projects. Noting that the government has given special emphasis to building the transmission and distribution infrastructure, CM Bommai added that steps will be taken to encourage innovation and technology development in the fields of thermal, hydraulic, and renewable energy.

Chinese firm retains contract for 216 Metro coaches

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE contract between the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Ltd (BMRCL) and CRRC Corporation Ltd, a Chinese firm, is here to stay with 90% of the manufacturing for the 34 train sets comprising 204 coaches to be done within India now, said multiple sources.

Following its inability to acquire land to set up shop on its own, it has entered into a tie-up with the Kolkata-based firm Titagarh Wagon Ltd (TWL).

The deal entered into by BMRCL with CRRC's subsidiary Nanjing Puzhen Co Ltd for Rs 1,578 crore in December 2019 encountered major hurdles as the firm could not keep up the deadline and it was taken to court.

"CRRC's move to set up its own manufacturing centre at Sri City in Andhra Pradesh to supply coaches for BMRCL did not work out," a reliable Metro source said.

BMRCL was on the verge of terminating the contract. The firm sought more time to sort out the issue and has finally entered into a MoU with TWL last week for the same, the source added.

Another BMRCL source said, "We have agreed to the new arrangement being put in place. Of the 36 train sets, 34 train sets will be readied within India now. TWL will set up stainless steel car body manufacturing facilities under the guidance of CRRC. This will be a major boost to the Make In India policy of the Centre." Just two train sets (12 coaches) will be readied in China and both would be the prototype ones which will be deployed for testing.

This arrangement has helped BMRCL save over Rs 400 crore now, he said. "This would have been the additional cost incurred if retendering had been called due to the steep rise in cost of stainless steel and general hike in price of other components, " the source added.

Of the 36 train sets, 15 will be Communication Based Train Control (CVTC) sets and will be deployed on RV Road-Bommasandra Line (Reach-5). "We are looking at commissioning the line by June next year and these 90 coaches are set to be delivered by then," another source said. Of them, 21 coaches are based on Distance To Go (DTG) technology and will be used on Purple and Green lines and their extensions.

Incorporation of these coaches next year will help in bringing down the time gap between two trains during non-peak hours to 3.5 minutes, an official said.

ENS @ Bengaluru

A 21-year-old third-year engineering student of JSS Academy of Technical Education (JSSATE), died by suicide in her hostel room. The incident came to light around 1.40pm on Wednesday, when the college residential warden and instructor went to the hostel to check, after the student, K Shivani, did not appear for an exam. The room doors were locked from inside and there was no response. The warden asked the helper to check through the ventilator, and saw her hanging from the ceiling fan. The warden, N Kavya, informed the college principal Dr Bhimasen Soragaon.

Shivani was studying Electronics and Communication Engineering (ECE), and was staying in the college hostel which is adjacent to the college campus on Dr Vishnuvardhan Road in Kengeri. She shared Room 312 with another student.

BIRD LOVE

Pet parrot takes wing, family offers reward for finder

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Tumakuru

EVER since Rustum slipped out of the door and took flight, tasting freedom, Rio has gone silent and refuses to eat. Rustum's family, which loves animals and wildlife, has been spending sleepless nights for the past four days, after failing to trace the African grey parrot.

Arjun, his wife Ranjana and son Vihan, who live in Jayanagara in Tumakuru district, have been making all efforts to trace the bird.

They distributed pamphlets appealing for help, and announced a cash reward of Rs 50,000 for anyone who could give information about the parrot's whereabouts.

Rustum, aged three, was allowed to fly free inside the house. When Arjun was trying to shift a cupboard through the door, Rustum flew out and perched on a honge tree by the road.

The anxious family members rushed out to grab him, but couldn't climb the tree. A helpful autodriver shinned up the tree but the parrot gave him the slip, and has been missing ever since. Neither did it return to see its mate Rio.

Three years ago, when the family was in Shivamogga, they had brought Rustum home to fulfil son Vihan's wish to have a pet parrot. They later got Rio to give him company, and would celebrate the parrots' birthdays too. They shifted to Tumakuru three months ago.

The African grey parrot 'Rustum'

"Rio has stopped talking and eating food," said Pallavi, Ranjana's sister. Vihan, a Class II student, has stopped going to school, and the family is visibly depressed.

Their worry is that domesticated parrots find it hard to find food on their own, as they are conditioned as pets, and cannot survive for long on their own. The family now regrets bringing Rustum home.

"We committed a mistake, and if we get back Rustum, we plan to shift the pair to Geodesic Aviary Dome in Kevadia in Gujarat, so these birds can make their own home there," Arjun told The New Indian Express.

IS K'TAKA COASTLINE WAITING FOR ITS SPLASH OF DOOM?

Increasing sea erosion on Karnataka's coast is a major concern requiring immediate attention. A status report based on a shoreline analysis between 1990 and 2016 by the Ministry of Earth Science's National Centre for Coastal Research found that 22% of the state's 300-odd km coast was a victim of sea erosion. It has only aggravated in the last six years. Experts have now sounded the alarm bells. Erosion at the famous Rabindranath Tagore Beach in Karwar threatens to gobble up National Highway 66, running parallel to the beach, just 30 yards away. They blame the increasing sea erosion on human activities in pursuit of development, compounded by rising sea levels due to climate change and global warming. While the damage unfolds, authorities seem to be at a loss about the solution. The pursuit of answers saw the construction of sea walls and placing of huge stones in the hope of preventing erosion. This was done after removing the previously planted Ipomea creepers — a perennial plant that grows deep roots to hold the sand together, preventing erosion. Neither the wall nor the boulders worked.

Karnataka's coast supports crucial sectors, including agriculture, fisheries, tourism, and ports, besides communication and transport. Coastal protection from the vagaries of climate change has emerged as a challenge not just to development but to sustainable management of the shoreline.

In 2017, the Asian Development Bank and the Union Government signed a ₹300 crore agreement in Bengaluru to prevent sea erosion. But Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has admitted that the programme has not worked. He has proposed trying the 'Sea Wave Breaker' technology. It involves placing stone structures a little offshore to break the intensity of the waves to avoid land erosion. It will be tried out at Ullala in Dakshina Kannada district along a one-kilometre stretch. If successful, it will be extended to the entire Karnataka coast. Ullala has seen erosion at a rate of 1.3 metres per year over the last few years. Bommai has promised a "permanent solution" in the next three months. Will that be too late to avoid larger catastrophes?

FRISKING THAT WASN'T SO NEET

The National Entrance Eligibility Test (NEET) for medical aspirants has attracted one more controversy—the frisking shame in Mar Thoma College in Kollam, Kerala, has left the country in shock and led to vandalism and protests. Five women staffers were arrested for making girls remove their innerwear. Their objection: Bras fasten with metal hooks, and NTA rules mandate that no metal items—rings, bangles, belts, brooches, watches, etc.—are allowed inside test centres. That women, who no doubt wear similar innerwear with hooks, were involved in disrobing young girls is even more riling. It amounts to gender discrimination, harassment and outraging their modesty, and is not seen even during airport security checks. In their zeal to implement rules, they disturbed the young girls, forcing them to write the exam in a state of trauma and discomfort, disrupting months of preparation. The girls were disadvantaged, and this will impact their scores.

The staffers have overstepped their brief and are not the first ones to do so. Similar incidents have been reported earlier during the NEET in Rajasthan and Kerala, and there have also been complaints of "torture" and "rudeness". The NTA dress code is undoubtedly strict and has resulted in absurd situations where students have had to snip full-sleeved shirts, and boys have even written the test shirtless and barefoot. It imposes more strictures on girls than on boys—from barring jeans to embroidery to high heels. Nowhere does it mandate the removal of innerwear, so the implementation is faulty. To check this, the government should allow practical clothes, and introduce high-tech security scanners that do not lead to strip searches. The personnel on duty should be understanding, and know a bra hook from a gadget. Strangely, such incidents do not occur during other competitive examinations. While it is heartening that the government has heeded the national outrage and registered FIRs against the errant staffers, it should also sensitise them to students. Teenagers writing such important exams are already tense, and no one has the right to play with their future.

There is much debate on who falls in this bracket. Many communities want to be recognised as indigenous. This often leads to inter-ethnic conflicts and turmoil

CONTEST OVER "INDIGENOUS" IN THE NORTHEAST

SOUMYADIP SINHA

PRADIP PHANJOUBAM

Editor of Imphal Review of Arts and Politics

A unidimensional portrayal of deep-rooted issues, like the indigenous people's movement, is susceptible to unjustified oversimplification. A closer look at the matter is vital both from the standpoint of a more comprehensive understanding of natural justice as well as peace and conflict. Those in the Northeast, exposed as they already are to the complex and competing claims to indigeneity amidst the region's ethnic milieu, certainly cannot ignore this.

One of the central issues in this debate is, who exactly is indigenous? Given the multiplicity of claims, there can be no easy answer. What can be presumed, however, without much dispute, is the need for moderation of the understanding of the term "indigenous". This has been acknowledged to be problematic, even by researchers of repute like Christian Erni. Is the indigenous person somebody belonging to a primitive pre-modern economy? Is his or her worldview determined by primal animistic faiths? Is he somebody who lives in the wild under no canopy of a centralised administration, therefore stateless? Or is a person indigenous only for the belief that he is the original inhabitant of a land?

In all probability, the term "indigenous" has attributes of some or all of these and is seen as vulnerable precisely because these unique attributes are pitted against the possibility of encroachment and obliteration by the modern economy and political system. Is it also quite obvious that each of these attributes is loaded with many unanswered questions? Take the last postulate that an indigenous person is the original inhabitant of a place. Does it imply that the person evolved out of the soil, overturning the "out of Africa" theory of human evolution and migration? Or is it just a question of his having arrived at his place of settlement earlier than others?

Again, what about nomadic people? Are they automatically disqualified to be indigenous just because they have not evolved a stable, sedentary lifestyle and economy? This problem, as Erni notes in his introduction to the edited volume, The Concept of Indigenous Peoples in Asia, is compounded in Asia where numerous communities, in different stages of socio-economic formations, contest to be classed as indigenous, making boundaries of indigeneity nebulous, unlike in settler states like America or Australia where these dividing lines are distinct. Likewise, if indigeneity were to be defined by primaeval faiths and cultural norms, should traditional people who have adopted more formal and universal religions and lifestyles be treated as no longer indigenous? If social, economic and political standards are to be seen as following a linear trajectory, and being indigenous or tribal is only a stage in this progression, this argument should hold.

This contest has been made more complex in India because there is a notion of Scheduled Tribe (ST), constitutionally defined, but this definition does not always adhere to the anthropological understanding of a tribe. The incentive structuring that comes with this classification has added more layers to the contest for primitivity, with more and more communities wanting to come under this category. Furthermore, this incentive structuring is also somewhat ensuring the perpetuation of psychology of primitivism, encouraging the false logic that being tribal is a genetic predicament, therefore unalterable by socio-economic status.

The Northeast is a testimony to why moderation of the understanding of "indigenous" is urgent to make it a little more flexible. Manipur's case is interesting, although this would hold good for other diverse societies like Assam. The state's traditional communities are Kukis, Nagas and Meiteis. The first two are STs, but in recent times a growing section of Meiteis too are seeking the status. All these communities claim to be "indigenous", and by Erni's definition, all would qualify regardless of their inclusion in the Constitution's ST list. This musing on the volatility of the term "indigenous" is important for one more reason. If a genome study were to be done today, in all likelihood, all Meiteis, Nagas or all Kukis may not even share the same genetics even within their communities. Consider the valley dwellers, Meiteis. Many traditions, folklores and even semi-scientific studies by colonial writers have pointed out the valley has been a melting pot where different ethnicities descended and merged into a single identity since prehistoric times, and it still is.

> The Northeast is a testimony to why moderation of the understanding of "indigenous" is urgent to make it a little more flexible ... the valley has been a melting pot where different ethnicities ... merged into a single identity since prehistoric times

Names of places in the valley, and surnames and clan names of Meiteis, also suggest their connections to Pong (Shan), Kabaw (Kachin), Awa (Burmese), Khagi (Yunnan Chinese), Takhel (Tripura), Tekhao (Assam), Bamon (Brahmins mostly from Bengal) and Pangal (Muslims from Bengal), etc. Yale professor James C Scott vouches in his book, Art of Not Being Governed: An Anarchic History of Upland South East Asia, that this population amalgamation has always been a prominent feature of "Paddy States" in the region that he and a Dutch scholar Willem Scheldel christened "Zomia", to which India's northeast obviously would also belong.

This raises another thought. If new settlers come to colonise, as indeed many migrants do, instead of allowing a gradual and natural merger with the cultures of their host population and thereby indigenise, they create another problem. The fear among the numerically weak host communities of being demographically and culturally marginalised by migrants is a response to be expected. Indeed, xenophobic suspicion of outsiders has been an almost universal character of communities in the Northeast. The inference also is that if new settlers come and seek to sink into the local milieu and ultimately indigenise, leniency and flexibility in the understanding of indigeneity are called for. Amid the upsurge of insider-outsider frictions in recent times in the Northeast, these ideas need to be revisited and re-engaged for the sake of a sense of justice, and consequently peace, in the region.

An insight from a civil servant at the time of Partition, and one who self-professedly was in love with the Northeast, Nari Rustomji, should be valuable. In his book Imperilled Frontiers: India's North-Eastern Borderlands, he wrote: "While, therefore, no community can remain static and while change is an imperative for a community's healthy growth and development, it has to be ensured that the pace of change is adjusted to the community's capacity to absorb such change without detriment to its inherent organism and essential values."

IBRAHIM ADIL SHAH II: POET, PAINTER & ART PATRON

SRINIVAS SISTLA

Associate Professor, Department of Fine Arts, Andhra University, Visakhapatnam

The Bahmani Kingdom with its capital at Gulbarga (Kalaburagi, Karnataka) was founded in 1347, but later Berar, Ahmadnagar, Bijapur (Vijayapura), Bidar, and Golkonda became independent realms. The art of miniature painting flourished in some of these centres—also known as Deccani painting. Among the Bijapur Sultans of the Adil Shahi dynasty (1490–1686), Ibrahim Adil Shah II (r. 1571–1627) stands out as a poet, musician and painter, besides being a talented ruler and patron of art. Mark Zebrowski (1944–1999), who published a pioneering book, Deccani Painting (1983), remarked that Ibrahim was "the greatest patron of the arts the Deccan produced."

Ibrahim belonged to the Sunni Islam sect but was broadminded in his religious views and practices. He was devoted to Prophet Muhammad, Hindu deities Saraswati and Ganapati, and Sufi saint Sayyid Muhammad Gisu Daraz (1321–1422) of Gulbarga. Ibrahim was well aware of the Indian aesthetic concept of the Rasa (essence), originally proposed as eight (Rasas) by Bharata Muni in the Naatya Sastra, an ancient Sanskrit treatise on drama, etc. Later, a ninth one was added, and thus came forth the idea of the Nava Rasas. In 1599, he laid the foundation for a new capital, Navraspur, near Bijapur. It was destroyed in a war in 1624 because its fortification was not completed by then. He also issued a coin, the Nun-i-Nauras. Two Bijapur poets of his time, Rashid Qazwani and Abdul Qadir, assumed the pen name of Nauras and Naurasi respectively, but their writings did not survive. Ibrahim was fond of his elephants, Atash Khan and Nauras Paikar, and his tambura called Moti Khan. He was a master chess player and is said to have written a treatise on the board game.

Though Persian was the dominant language of the time, Ibrahim penned 59 songs and 17 couplets—in Kitab-i-Nauras (Nauras Nama)—in Deccani, which later developed into Urdu. It was edited and translated in 1959 by Nazar Ahmad of Lucknow. P K Gode (1891–1961), the first curator of the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute in Pune, wrote in his forward that the work "was a notable attempt with a lesson of its own for all Hindu and Muslim thinkers of today." The same opinion, I suppose, holds weight even today.

Muhammad Zuhuri (c. 1537–1616), a Persian poet, was initially in Shiraz (Iran), but later served in the court of Akbar in Agra and under three Sultans of Ahmadnagar, and then at Bijapur under Ibrahim. He wrote Saqi Nama (Book of the Wine Cup-bearer), Khan-i Khalil (Table of the Friend of God), Gulzar-i-Ibrahim (Rose Garden of Abraham), and also the preface to his patron's book. In Gulzar, Zuhuri wrote about Ibrahim's virtues which, like the Nava Rasa, were nine. He said further about Ibrahim, "In the art of painting, he excels the painter... While placing the looking glass before him, he paints his own picture...(and) also an excellent calligrapher." Though portraits were known in Indian art from very ancient times, making a self-portrait by looking at one's reflection in the mirror was of European origin, and to the best of my knowledge, unknown earlier. A painting of Ibrahim, known to have been copied in Bikaner (Rajasthan) from a lost Bijapur original, is in the David Collection in Copenhagen, Denmark. This painting contains certain qualities, especially the gaze, which in my opinion appears to be a mirror-aided self-portrait. Incidentally, Cornelius Claesz Heda of Haarlem of Netherlands was a court painter of Rudolf II (r. 1576–1612), and also worked under Ibrahim. Heda presented a painting titled Bacchus, Venus and Cupid to Ibrahim. However, only a letter written by him from Navraspur has survived, but not his paintings done either in Europe or in India.

Ibrahim assumed the title of Jagat Guru (Universal Preceptor), A portrait in the City Palace Museum in Jaipur shows him with a mark on the forehead, similar to the sacred mark common among several sects of Hindus. According to Zebrowski, "In all but one of Ibrahim's portraits... he is shown wearing a necklace of the rudraksha". Ibrahim, in my opinion, seems to have been inspired by the locally dominant Veerasaivism, which gives utmost importance to a personal Guru, and also the Rudraksha necklaces.

Many court poets of Ibrahim wrote poems for which illustrated/calligraphic manuscripts were produced at Bijapur. For instance, Husain Manjhu Khalji, under the pen name of the Hans (swan), penned a love story Deccani, the Pem Nem (Toils of Love). Its copy in the British Library contains 34 paintings.

Zuhuri also mentions six courtiers of Ibrahim, including a painter, Farrukh Husain, also known as Farrukh Beg (c. 1547–1616), and says, "The expert painters take pride in being his pupils." Many paintings by Farrukh Beg do offer a sumptuous feast to the eye. He and his paintings, in my opinion, need to be discussed separately, sooner than later.

SC and ST education

This is with reference to Initiative to stop tribal student dropouts: Min (July 20). I would like to appreciate the Kerala government for its good initiative to stop the SC and ST students from dropping out. This is a golden opportunity for marginalised students to continue their studies. I hope this effort will inspire them to transform their lives and community.

Inflation and fuel prices

This is with reference to the news Oppn, govt spar over inflation and fuel prices (July 20). In my opinion, inflation is not a burden to us, but as citizens, we do have a democratic right to protest against the government's decisions. That being said, maybe it is time to understand the reason behind this decision taken by the government.

Cause above applause

This is with reference to Cop helps aspirant attend NEET exam, wins hearts (July 20). It is often said that one must work for the cause and not the applause. This cop is the embodiment of these words. It may not be the biggest feat and not many may know about this good samaritan—but he has surely won hearts. He is truly what one can call a good cop.

Polavaram project

This is with reference to TS blames Polavaram for B'Chalam floods; AP says don't politicise issue (July 20). Telangana transport minister's statements about attributing the Bhadrachalam floods to an increase in dam height of the Polavaram project is nothing but cheap politics. After all, the dam is being built as per the central government's approved plan—it is also being duly monitored by several agencies. Unforeseen natural calamities should not be politicised by any party and become a subject of pointless debates.

Kallakurichi incident

The incident of girl candidates appearing for NEET being forced to remove innerwear at exam centres in Kerala is reprehensible and also indirectly amounts to indignity and violates basic human rights. Carrying of gadgets inside exam halls is prohibited but we have to draw the line somewhere and not do it in such a way. The incident would have certainly impacted the girls' performance and their mental health. One can only imagine how each one of them and their parents must be feeling after facing such a terrible situation. Stringent action needs to be taken against the concerned culprits so that such incidents are not repeated.

India, Sri Lanka likely to begin trading in rupee

Governor of Sri Lanka's Central Bank recently spoke of introducing INR as foreign exchange

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

INDIA sees a ray of hope in Sri Lanka with the election of Ranil Wickremesinghe as the President of the island nation caught in economic bankruptcy and a subsequent social unrest.

India, which is their biggest lender to that country, will continue to support it with renewed emphasis on trade. Recently, the Governor of the Central Bank of Sri Lanka (CBSL) in an interaction with Indian CEO Forum (ICF) spoke about introducing the Indian rupee as foreign exchange for transactions in that country.

"Members of the board of the ICF met the CBSL Governor and discussed ways to address the economic recovery. The Governor looked forward to strengthening bilateral trade with introduction of the Indian rupee as accepted foreign currency for transactions," tweeted Manoj Gupta, MD of Lanka IOC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Indian Oil Corporation in Sri Lanka.

The Lanka IOC has also said that due to excessive applications and limited browsers, they have discontinued registration of new customers for the supply of diesel against dollar payments. It has not been ascertained whether this has anything to do with the possibility of using the rupee as foreign exchange subsequently.

Manoj Gupta wasn't available for comment despite several attempts. Meanwhile, speculation is rife on the Sri Lankan rupee being substituted for the Indian rupee for transactions in some sectors. Sources say since Ranil Wickremesinghe is viewed as a friend of India, there is every possibility of INR trading getting the go-ahead."Indian investments in Sri Lanka continue to contribute towards economic recovery and resumption of growth. Their innovative ideas and wholehearted efforts serve as force multipliers for the bilateral multi-dimensional partnership," said the Indian High Commission in Colombo.

India has emerged as the top lender to Sri Lanka during the first four months of 2022. It has extended credit worth $376.9 million, way above $67.9 million from China. India has also extended a $3.8 billion credit line to Sri Lanka to be used for emergency purchases of fuel, food and medicines, deferral payments to the Asian Clearing Union and a currency swap.

Trade between India and Sri Lanka has dropped drastically due to the economic and political turmoil. Terms and conditions are being explored on how Indian exporters can buy and sell products from the island nation using the Indian rupee.

In addition to being one of the largest trade partners of Sri Lanka, India is also one of the largest contributors to foreign direct investment. The main investments from India are in the areas of petroleum retail, tourism, manufacturing, real estate, telecommunication, banking and financial services.

Credit lifeline for the neighbour

Fines, CCTVs among proposals for safer highways

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

STREETLIGHTS along the entire network of National Highways (NHs), capping commercial vehicle drivers' working hours to 10 hours a day, CCTV cameras at accident-prone sites, hefty penalties on overloaded vehicles and cattle owners whose animals stray on to the highways are among the key recommendations made by the Parliamentary Standing Committee on transport, tourism and culture to ensure the safety of road users.

The panel has also suggested installation of CCTV cameras at every few kilometres at road development projects sites, even if they are at construction stage, for close monitoring of progress.

In its report submitted last month, the committee said installing CCTV cameras will permit round-the-clock ground-level monitoring of the progress being made in ongoing road projects and also deter wrongdoers. "The CCTV cameras thus installed can be made a part of the fully constructed road once the project gets completed and can be used to monitor traffic movements, accidents," reads the report.

CCTV cameras may also be installed at accident-prone sites, black spots which are yet to be rectified and other important locations on the NHs to monitor road accidents and arrange urgent medical help, the panel says, adding that drones also may be utilised for regulating vehicle movement.

The Ministry of Road Transport and Highways may come up with provisions to make it mandatory to install streetlights on the entire NH network "since poor lighting conditions lead to severe accidents. Regular maintenance of the streetlights may be ensured in coordination with agencies concerned," the panel states.

KEY RECOMMENDATIONS

- Action/penalty on cattle or animal-rearers for letting out their animals on NHs
- Hefty fines on consignor and consignee for vehicles not abiding by the weight carrying limits
- Provisions to charge toll tax on the basis of weight of the vehicles instead of axle-based toll collection
- Priority to maintenance and repair of NHs with substantially higher budgetary allocation
- Selection of construction materials by factoring in durability

- Food joints, restrooms, toilets and other amenities alongside NHs to reduce the menace of illegal parking and to avoid accidents

STILL A LONG WAY TO GO

- At the time of Independence, total road length in the country was 3,88,226 km
- At present, India has the second largest road network in the world of about 63.72 lakh km comprising national highways (NHs), expressways, state highways, major district roads, and village roads.
- Length of NHs as per the Annual Report (2021-22) of MoRTH is 1,40,995 km
- Of India's total road network, almost 40% is unpaved
- National Highways constitute less than 3% of the total road network
- India accounts for 11% of global deaths in road accidents while having only 1% of the world's vehicles

40% of villages have no access to all-weather roads

In 2020, the total recorded road accidents in India were 3,66,138

Rahul Gandhi, Mallikarjun Kharge and other opposition MPs during a protest against GST on food items in Parliament | PTI

Another day of washout in House over GST, price rise

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

DEMANDS for discussion on price rise and GST disrupted the parliamentary proceedings for the third consecutive day Wednesday with both the Houses adjourned without transacting any legislative business.

With the Opposition pressing for demand on the discussion on price rise, the government said it is ready for a debate once Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman recovers from Covid-19.

Carrying packets of milk, curd, and other food items, Opposition MPs staged a protest near the statue of Mahatma Gandhi and some were seen carrying these times and flashing them inside the House. The MPs in both the Houses resorted to sloganeering and carried placards with 'Gabbar Singh strikes again' written into the well of the House amidst slogans of 'take back GST'.

The Indian Antarctic Bill, 2022, which introduces a permit requirement for expeditions to Antarctica, was on the agenda in the Lok Sabha. In the Rajya Sabha, the Bill to amend the Weapons of Mass Destruction and their Delivery Systems Act, 2005 was listed, but both couldn't be taken up.

Union minister Smriti Irani later launched a sharp attack on Rahul Gandhi. "He may be unproductive politically but he should not continuously curb Parliament's productivity. As an Amethi MP between 2004 and 2019, he never posed any questions in Parliament and when he abandoned the constituency and became Wayanad MP, his attendance in LS was less than 40% in the winter session in 2019," she said.

PM to host dinner for new Prez on Friday; Congress CMs, KCR not invited

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi has decided to host a dinner in honour of the 'new President' on Friday. Among the invitees are the chief ministers of all the NDA-ruled states, besides those from Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh and Odisha. However, the Congress chief ministers have been kept out. Telangana CM T Chandrasekhara Rao has also not been invited to the dinner. The invite, sent out by the Ministry of Home Affairs, said: "As the time available for delivering the cards to chief ministers and deputy chief ministers would be very short, it is decided that the cards will be delivered to the offices of Resident Commissioners for handing over to chief minister and deputy chief minister of their state." Protesting at the apparent 'snub', Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel tweeted saying that the President belongs to all the parties and the entire country. The Prime Minister should not play party politics using the head of the State, he said. The dinner will be held at Hotel Ashok in Chanakyapuri, New Delhi. ENS

Chhattisgarh took the lead in deaths of security personnel where 45 were killed in 2021. Only six securitymen were killed in till June this year.

UAPA acquittals pip convictions

Even as the number of undertrials booked under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA) went up steadily between 2016 and 2020, more people were acquitted in comparison to the number of convictions during the same period, Union Home Ministry data revealed. While in 2020 the number of cases registered under UAPA was 796, the number of undertrials lodged in prisons across India that year stood at 6,482. The same year, 80 persons were convicted under UAPA while 116 persons were acquitted. In 2019, 1,226 cases were lodged while the number of undertrials was 5,645. Only 34 persons were convicted against 92 cases of acquittals, MHA told the Rajya Sabha.

EASE OF ACCESS

Henley Passport Index ranks India 87th globally

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

HENLEY Passport Index, which ranks world's passports according to the number of destinations their holder can access without a prior visa, has ranked India 87th globally out of 199 passports.

The index is based on exclusive data from the International Air Transport Association (IATA) and is corroborated by a research team Henley and Partners.

As countries start recovering from the Covid-19 pandemic and re-open borders with a view to encourage travel, several Asian countries have climbed the chart this time. Japan, Singapore and South Korea have topped the Index. The Asian giants' top ranking reverses pre-pandemic rankings dominated by European nations.

"A Japanese passport provides visa-free access to 193 countries, one more than those from Singapore and South Korea. Russia, which invaded Ukraine in February, is ranked 50th, with access to 119 nations. Ukraine is ranked 35th with access to 144 nations," according to the index. China is placed 69th with access to 80 countries whereas India is 87th. Syria, Iraq and Afghanistan are at the bottom of the ladder. Afghanistan's passport offers hassle-free access to only 27 countries.

"The index defines the strength of diplomatic relations of any one country with others; essentially, the more one country has 'ease of access' to others, the higher its ranking," according to the index.

China showing no intent to move back from Ladakh

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE 16th round of India-China Corps Commander-level talks last Sunday failed to make any headway towards returning to the May 2020 positions in eastern Ladakh. Experts believe that the Chinese are making it clear that they will stay on. In fact, India will have to be wary of the fast-growing Chinese Navy in the Indian Ocean.

Maj-Gen SB Asthana (Retd) says the PLA is consolidating its positions wherever it is present in eastern Ladakh. "That makes one believe that they are unlikely to go back," he said, adding there could be minor disengagement from the present positions.

The stalemate has persisted since the 13th round of talks that took place on October 10.

Until the 12 round of talks, soldiers from both sides had disengaged from Gogra (Patrolling Point 17A). Before it, the troops had disengaged from Galwan (PP 14) and the north and south banks of Pangong Lake. It was due at Hot Springs (PP 15).

However, the Chinese have their troops in Depsang, blocking patrol points 10, 11, 11A, 12 & 13. The standoff began in May 2020 and the Chinese have no intentions to go back to the pre-May 2020 position, says Commodore Anil Jai Singh (Retd). "We should be strengthening our positions in the Indian Ocean," he said.

"With time the Chinese are picking their weaknesses and are bridging them by building capabilities, logistics and reinforcements," he said.

In the coming years, the Chinese will consolidate their presence in the Indian Ocean. This can be gauged from the way they are expanding their naval assets, says Commodore Singh.

"In addition to keeping a continuous presence of the Chinese Navy in the Indian Ocean, Pakistan is being armed with sophisticated warships and submarines to keep them as their proxy," he said.

The solution lies at political levels, he says. "The Corps Commanders can discuss the specifics on the ground, but the resolution will come from our political leaders but it is not happening. If the foreign ministers of two countries are meeting and it's not happening, what will the Corps Commanders do?" he asked.

Foreign Minister S Jaishankar met his Chinese counterpart Wang Yi in Bali on July 7 and, in addition to the other issues, discussed resolution of the border standoff.

The Chinese are picking their weaknesses and are bridging them by building capabilities and reinforcements... The Corps Commanders can discuss the specifics on the ground, but the resolution will come from our political leaders - Commodore Anil Jai Singh (Retd)

Cheetah to arrive in India by Aug 15

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

PAVING the way for the re-introduction of cheetah in the country, India and Namibia on Wednesday entered into an agreement under which eight big cats are expected to reach the country next month.

Cheetah, was declared extinct in the country in 1952, will be re-introduced in India in the Kuno-Palpur National Park in Madhya Pradesh's Sheopur district. The first batch comprising four male and as many female cheetahs will arrive from Namibia in August and talks are on with South Africa too. The animals are expected to land in India before August 15.

"Completing 75 glorious years of Independence with restoring the fastest terrestrial flagship species, the cheetah, in India, will rekindle the ecological dynamics of the landscape," tweeted Environment Minister Bhupender Yadav.

The main goal of the reintroduction project in India is to establish a viable cheetah metapopulation in India that allows the big cat species to perform its functional role as a top predator and provides space for its expansion within its historical range, thereby contributing to its global conservation efforts.

While the current carrying capacity for Kuno National Park is a maximum of 21 cheetahs, once restored, the larger landscape can hold about 36 cheetahs.

The carrying capacity can be further enhanced by including the remaining part of the Kuno Wildlife Division (1,280 sq km) through prey restoration. Financial and administrative support to the cheetah reintroduction programme in India would be provided by Union environment ministry.

Larger bench can hear case: SC on Shiv Sena split

Issuing notices on petitions filed by Uddhav group, SC asks other side to respond by July 27

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday hinted at the possibility of setting up a larger bench on issues raised in the petitions filed with regard to the split in Shiv Sena, the merger of a political party, defection, and disqualification of MLAs.

While hearing arguments of the factions led by Uddhav Thackeray and Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde, respectively, the Chief Justice of India, N V Ramana, said, "Some of the issues, I strongly feel, may require a larger bench. A larger bench can hear the case."

A bench headed by the CJI and justices Krishna Murari and Hima Kohli extended the operation of its July 11 order by which it had asked the Assembly Speaker not to proceed with a plea seeking disqualification of the MLAs of the Uddhav faction as sought by the Shinde group on the ground of defying the party whip during the trust vote and the election of the speaker.

The bench also issued notices on petitions filed by the Uddhav group and asked the other side to file responses by July 27 for consideration by a larger bench, and fixed them for hearing on Aug. 1.

While a battery of senior lawyers, including Kapil Sibal and A M Singhvi, spoke on behalf of the Uddhav faction, the Shinde group was led by senior advocate Harish Salve.

"What happens to the verdict of people? The 10th Schedule, meant to stop defection, has turned topsy-turvy and has been used to instigate defection," Sibal said.

Salve replied by saying, "Heavens do not fall if a chief minister is changed. Let us get into if the speaker was appointed as per law and not on the crisis of democracy and all that... Raising a voice within the party without crossing the 'Lakshman Rekha' is not an act of defection."

RESERVATION

SC paves way for OBC quota in Maha local polls

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday directed that reservation benefits should be extended to Other Backward Classes (OBCs) in local body elections in Maharashtra. The court accepted the empirical data collated by the government-appointed Bhantia Commission.

In March, the then Maha Vikas Aghadi government had announced a committee led by former chief secretary Jayant Banthia for collating empirical data on the OBCs following the top court's refusal to accept an interim report of the state backward class commission.

The Supreme Court directed the Maharashtra Election Commission (SEC) to notify the election programme for the local bodies.

A bench comprising justices AM Khanwilkar, AS Oka and JB Pardiwala observed that the election schedules for the local bodies are to proceed in terms of the delimitation that existed prior to March 11, 2022.

Members of the OBC community distribute sugar to celebrate after SC allowed OBC reservation in local polls in Maharashtra, in Karad on Wednesday | PTI

"We direct the state election commission and the authorities to ensure the election process commences in respect of each of those local bodies on the basis of the order. The state election commission is obliged to notify the election programme within two weeks from today," said the court.

Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde termed the Supreme Court's decision a big victory for his government. "We are happy that the OBC community will get political reservation in local body elections now," Shinde said.

On the other hand, Opposition leader and former deputy chief minister Ajit Pawar said that the SC order was a result of the previous MVA government's effort to appoint the commission. "It is the victory of honest efforts made by the MVA government to safeguard OBC quota. We succeeded in this with the support of Uddhav Thackeray and other cabinet colleagues," Pawar said.

Responding to Pawar's comment, Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis said that the elections to some local bodies were held without the OBC quota, and asked whether "the Opposition is ready to take credit for their missteps."

Shiv Sena chief Uddhav Thackeray said in a statement that he was happy with the apex court's decision. He added that the previous MVA government headed by him had earnestly worked to get the OBC reservation.

Maharashtra Cabinet expansion delayed further

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Supreme Court's decision on Wednesday to postpone the hearing about the Shiv Sena MLAs' disqualification has put the Maharashtra Cabinet expansion in a state of limbo.

However, Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis said the court order and Cabinet expansion have no correlation. "Cabinet expansion has not been delayed because of the Supreme Court order. We will soon carry it out," Fadnavis said.

"It has been more than 20 days since Eknath Shinde was sworn in as the CM, but he has not been able to allot the work load to his Cabinet colleagues. It is currently a two-person Cabinet, comprising the CM and deputy CM. People are suffering due to floods while the CM is making tours of Delhi," Atul Londe, spokesperson of Maharashtra Congress, said.

Sources in the Shinde camp said appointing ministers now may have negative repercussions. "If Supreme Court passes any unwanted order, the Shinde-Fadnavis government will face a big embarrassment. They want to avoid that. Also, all the 40 Sena MLAs who supported Shinde want a Cabinet berth or appointment as minister for state. So the CM is in a Catch-22 situation," a leader close to him said.

Shinde, Fadnavis waiting for clarity over govt

Eknath Shinde and Devendra Fadnavis were expecting some relief or clarity over their government's stability before carrying out Cabinet expansion. However, the SC asked the Assembly speaker to maintain status quo for disqualification plea made by the Sena factions

Madam Tussauds gets new address in Noida

Delhi's loss is UP's gain. After being shut for nearly two years, Delhi's Madame Tussauds wax museum has reappeared in a newer and bigger avatar at Noida's DLF Mall. Launched in 2017, the previous museum was in Regal building at Connaught Place. The new museum which opened doors on Tuesday is spread over 16,000 square feet on the fourth floor of the mall. The earlier one in CP was about 14,000 square feet. To start with, the museum has over 50 wax statues and a few more would be added soon. The first visitors on Tuesday were wowed by the sublime statues and gave a thumbs up to more than 90% of them for their accuracy, be it Milkha Singh or Kareena Kapoor, Virat Kohli or Ustad Zakir Hussain. This is the only Madame Tussauds, run by the Merlin Entertainments, in the country.

Nishad Party chief, a small-time deity

Nishad Party chief and MLC Sanjay Nishad, who champions the cause of his caste men, doesn't mind being treated as a small-time deity himself. A video of Nishad being worshipped by his partymen recently went viral. Statues of 'supreme leaders' being installed by their disciples is common, but a neta being worshipped live, with aarti and other customary acts is still rare. The 'bhakts' also justify their act. His disciples consider him as their guru and guru is like a bhagwan, said one. How can a bhagwan not accept the request of his devotees?, asked another. Valid point.

She recently went public with her allegations against her own relatives. She also slammed the leaders of Dalit community who have launched their own parties and condemned one of her brothers who has joined hands with them. However, she put in a word of praise for younger brother Anand. "After all, others left me, my younger brother Anand is engaged in my service and party after leaving his government job," she tweeted. She also accused 'casteist forces' of hatching a conspiracy to weaken the BSP. In the same vein, she cautioned her cadre to be careful of such forces in the interest of the party and the movement.

Woman cop mowed down by cattle smugglers in Jharkhand

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

A day after Deputy Superintendent of Police Surendra Singh was run over by a truck during a raid on illegal stone mining operations in Haryana, a sub-inspector was mowed to death during a vehicle-checking drive in Ranchi on Wednesday. Sandhya Topno was trampled by a pickup van suspected to be carrying smuggled cattle.

Though the suspected animal smugglers managed to escape, the driver of the van was arrested and the vehicle has been seized.

"A female sub-inspector named Sandhya Topno was mowed down to death during vehicle check. She was posted as in-charge of Tupudana OP," Ranchi SSP Kaushal Kumar said. Many animals have also been injured, he added.

The BJP has held the ruling alliance responsible for the incident, saying that rampant cattle smuggling is being done under the state government's protection.

"There has been a considerable rise in cattle smuggling in Jharkhand since the Hemant Soren government has come into power," state BJP chief Deepak Prakash said. "Cattle smuggling is being done under the protection of the ruling alliance due to which, law and order situation has crumbled and this incident is just an example of the state heading towards jungle raj," he added.

According to sources, Simdega Police had received a tip-off about cattle being smuggled in a vehicle, following which a police team started chasing the van.

When the driver started speeding the vehicle, the matter was reported to Kamdara police station, which put up a barrier. However, the driver ran past the barrier, and evaded the police further as well.

Topna tried to stop the van at the Khunti-Ranchi border, but the driver rammed into her and managed to escape. Later, the speeding van overturned and the smugglers fled. The driver, who got injured, was caught by the police.

Hours after the incident, two motorcycle-borne assailants opened fire on the jailer of Giridih Central Jail while he was on his way in a vehicle to the district civil court. The jailer escaped unhurt. An investigation has been initiated, but the assailants are yet to be identified.

10 die after consuming spurious liquor in Bengal

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

TEN persons died on Wednesday after consuming spurious liquor at an illegal hooch-den at Ghusuri in Howrah. Seventeen others also had to be admitted to the local healthcare centre where condition of two was said to be critical. Irate local residents ransacked the hooch-point, alleging that the local police administration was aware of the ongoings but took no action.

One person was detained by the police in connection with running the illegal trade.

A huge quantity of liquor and other items used to manufacture hooch were seized. Local residents alleged that the deceased and those who fell sick had consumed liquor from the den on Tuesday evening, and they started feeling ill hours later.

"The liquor den is located a stone's throw away from the Malipanchghara police station. The trade was being run in arrangement with the police station," a resident said.

Local residents

As the news spread, hundreds of local residents, mainly women, staged demonstrations in phases on Wednesday.

Ghusuri houses many small factories and foundry units that employ local people, who form the customers of the hooch-den. The demonstrators said they had complained to the police on several occasions but no action was taken.

"Had the police acted on time, this tragedy could have been averted," said Madhabi Dolui, a homemaker.

Police, however, denied being hands in glove with the illegal alcohol makers.

About a fortnight ago, five persons died in East Bardhaman district after they consumed country liquor procured from a licensed outlet. Though the medical examination stated poisoning as the reason of death, it is yet to be ascertained whether it was because of alcohol.

NIA conducts raids at 9 locations in Kashmir

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Wednesday conducted raids at multiple locations in Kashmir in connection with recovery of 15 pistols from Srinagar in May.

An NIA spokesman said the agency conducted searches at nine locations — four in Srinagar and five in Pulwama — in the case related to the arrest of four persons and recovery of 15 pistols, 30 magazines and 300 rounds in Chanapora area of Srinagar on May 23.

The police had also seized a Scorpio vehicle.

The case was initially probed by the police but was handed over to NIA on June 18. The police had said the pistols were to be used by militants in hit-and-run targeted attacks in the Valley.

The NIA spokesman said the searches, conducted at the premises of the accused and suspects, led to the recovery and seizure of digital devices and other incriminating material.

He added that further investigation in the case is going on.

According to police officials, over 100 pistols have been recovered from militants in the Valley this year.

They say in most of the targeted killings carried out by militants, pistols were used.

Moosewala case: 2 killed in encounter

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

TWO gangsters believed to be involved in the murder of Punjabi singer Sidhu Moosewala were killed after a five-hour encounter on Wednesday with the Anti-Gangster Task Force of Punjab Police at Bhakna Kalanaur village in Amritsar district. Three policemen and a journalist were also injured in the operation but they are out of danger, officials said.

The deceased gangsters — Jagroop Singh alias Rupa and Manpreet Singh alias Mannu Kusa — belonged to the Jaggu Bhaganpuria gang. Bhaganpuria had provided them to gangster Lawrence Bishnoi for killing the singer.

"Both the gangsters were neutralised in a heavy exchange of fire. The police recovered an AK-47 and a pistol along with heavy ammunition from the spot," Additional Director General of Police Pramod Ban said.

Recounting the encounter, Assistant Inspector General of Police, Gurmeet Singh Chauhan said, "We had information that the two gangsters were in this area. They were spotted by our team in the morning, and were told to surrender. But they ran and entered an abandoned farmhouse. When they started firing, we fired back. Around 25 AFTF personnel and 40 others including local police were there, besides extra police force for outer cordon."

The police have identified six shooters who were part of the two modules involved in Moosewala's killing in Mansa district on May 29.

Race whittles down to Sunak & Truss for next PM

Both are now set for their first clash in a live televised debate

LONDON

RISHI Sunak on Wednesday clinched his place for the final leg of the race to succeed Boris Johnson and will go head-to-head with Foreign Secretary Liz Truss as one of two finalists to take charge as Conservative Party leader and British Prime Minister.

Sunak won the fifth and final voting round of Tory MPs with a resounding 137 votes, while second-placed Truss won the support of 113 MPs. Trade Minister Penny Mordaunt was knocked out of the race after coming in third with 105 votes.

The 42-year-old British Indian former Chancellor, who has topped every voting round so far, added 19 votes to his Tuesday tally of 118 and comfortably crossed the 120 MPs mark seen as the threshold to confirm a place in the final showdown.

Sunak and Truss are now set for their first head-on clash in a live televised debate scheduled on the BBC for Monday.

Earlier, outgoing Prime Minister Johnson used his last Prime Minister's Questions (PMQs) in the House of Commons to bid farewell to the top job with the Spanish phrase 'hasta la vista, baby'.

File photos of Britain's former Foreign Secretary Liz Truss (L) and former Chancellor of the Exchequer Rishi Sunak | AFP

In his final speech, he had words of advice for his successor: "I want to use the last few seconds, Mr Speaker, to give some words of advice to my successor, whoever he or she may be...Cut taxes and deregulate wherever you can to make this the greatest place to live and invest, which it is."

"I love the Treasury, but remember, that if we'd always listened to the Treasury, we wouldn't have built the M25 or the Channel Tunnel. Focus on the road ahead, but always remember to check the rear-view mirror."

He further added, "And remember...It's not Twitter that counts, it's the people that sent us here."

Johnson's parting shot once again alluded to the thumping majority won by the Tories under his leadership in the 2019 general election, something he had referenced repeatedly in the days before ultimately resigning in the face of an unprecedented Cabinet revolt.

However, Sunak's popularity within the Conservative parliamentary party does not seem to chime with the views of the wider membership base, which has shown favour towards his leading opponents.

A recent YouGov survey of 725 Conservative Party members over Monday and Tuesday showed Truss would beat Sunak by 54% to 35%, and Mordaunt would also beat him 51% to 37%. PTI

Inflation rises to 40-year high of 9.4% in Britain

LONDON

INFLATION in the United Kingdom has accelerated to a new 40-year high, driven by rising food and fuel prices that are contributing to a cost-of-living crisis.

Consumer prices rose 9.4% this year through June, up from 9.1% the previous month, the Office for National Statistics said Wednesday. The new figure is the highest since 1982, when inflation peaked at 11%.

Russia's war in Ukraine has boosted food and energy prices around the world, with shipments of oil, natural gas, grain and cooking oil disrupted. That has added to rising prices that began last year as the global economy started to recover from the Covid-19 pandemic.

Bank of England Governor Andrew Bailey said Tuesday that the bank is likely to consider raising interest rates by half a percentage point at its next meeting to help control inflation. The bank has raised rates five times since December, with the last increase a quarter-point in June that sent its key rate to 1.25%.

Contingent sergeant confined for 10 years

A sergeant with the Gurkha Contingent of the Singapore Police Force was on Wednesday sentenced to 10 years in prison for misappropriating SGD 5.4 million from members of his community and using it to indulge in placing bets on gambling sites, which prosecutors say is one of the most heinous scams perpetrated in recent history in the affluent city-state. Bikash Gurung, 36, has told his 196 victims that he could remit monies to Nepal at favourable exchange rates. But he only sent around SGD 211,000 back to their home country. The bets, which included winnings he might have rolled over, totalled nearly SGD 40.8 million, the largest amount to date linked to unlawful gambling activities, as per Straits Times newspaper. New Lanka leader vows tough line against troublemakers

COLOMBO

SRI Lanka's president-elect vowed on Wednesday to take tough action against anyone resorting to what he called the undemocratic means that led to his predecessor's ouster.

Six-time prime minister Ranil Wickremesinghe said he will not bow to violence after winning a parliamentary vote to succeed Gotabaya Rajapaksa, who fled the country and resigned last week.

"If you try to topple the government, occupy the president's office and the prime minister's office, that is not democracy, it is against the law," Wickremesinghe said after praying at a Buddhist temple in capital Colombo.

"We will deal with them firmly according to the law. We will not allow a minority of protesters to suppress the aspirations of the silent majority clamouring for a change in the political system."

Shortly after his election, he met with elite police and army units guarding the national parliament to thank them for defending key state symbols, his office said.

Meanwhile, the four suspects who were arrested earlier this month for allegedly torching the private residence of Sri Lanka's newly-elected President Ranil Wickremesinghe were on Wednesday remanded to judicial custody till July 27.

The four suspects who were arrested on July 10, will be produced for an identification parade during the next hearing date on July 27, according to the Daily Mirror newspaper.

Ukraine strikes key bridge in Russian-occupied south

KYIV

UKRAINIAN forces struck and seriously damaged a bridge Wednesday that is key for supplying Russian troops in southern Ukraine, a regional official said, as Russian shelling killed civilians.

Ukraine sought to loosen Russia's grip on the southern Kherson region by striking a strategically important bridge. Kirill Stremousov, deputy head of the Moscow-backed temporary administration in the region, said the Ukrainian military struck the Antonivskyi Bridge, which crosses the Dnieper River, using US-supplied HIMARS multiple rocket launchers.

The 1.4 km bridge is the main river crossing in the Kherson region. Knocking it out would make it hard for the Russian military to keep supplying its forces in the region amid repeated Ukrainian attacks.

"The bridge wasn't closed, traffic across it is still continuing, but the situation is serious," Stremousov said, according to Interfax.

Wednesday's shelling of the bridge was the second in as many days. AP

NO FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION

Hong Kong book fair kicks off with fewer political books

HONG KONG

HONG Kong's annual book fair kicked off Wednesday, with several publishers of political books prevented from taking part in the fair and others saying they had to be cautious about what they exhibited.

The fair's main organiser, the Hong Kong Trade Development Council, said it did not screen the books for sale at the fair. But Hong Kong authorities have tightened controls on freedom of expression and arrested dozens of pro-democracy activists after a tough national security law took effect in 2020, and the council stressed that exhibitors must abide by the law.

A man reads the book "Xi Jinping: The Governance of China" at the annual book fair

Independent publisher Hillway Culture, which publishes books on Hong Kong and political events, was among those not allowed to participate. Another publisher, One of a Kind, which has published several books about 2019 protests in the city, was another. Publishers are having a tough time given the impact of the pandemic on the city's economy and concerns over censorship and rejection of independent publishers, said Kaying Wong, a guest curator at The House of Hong Kong Literature, the city's largest literary organisation.

"It's surely not an easy job for us to set up a booth in the book fair and be selected (to exhibit)," Wong said. The book fair is one of the largest in Asia. In past years, it was known for exhibiting a variety of books, including politically sensitive ones and those banned on the communist-ruled Chinese mainland. Novelist Gabriel Tsang, who works with publisher Spicy Fish Cultural Production Limited, said writers have to consider whether they can get published in the current environment.

Last year, complaints were lodged against Hillway Culture, one of the publishers rejected this year, for exhibiting politically sensitive books.

However, visitors still value the fair as an opportunity to browse and purchase a wide range of books. AP

NCLT admits bankruptcy plea of BoI against FRL

BoI moved NCLT in April seeking to initiate proceedings against FRL

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

KISHORE BIYANI-promoted Future Retail (FRL) will face insolvency proceedings after the Mumbai bench of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on Wednesday admitted Bank of India's plea to initiate corporate insolvency resolution proceedings against it for defaulting on a payment of ₹856 crore.

The bench, led by Justice Pradeep Narhari Deshmukh and Justice Shyam Babu Gautam, also appointed Vijay Kumar Iyer as the interim resolution professional for the company. Bank of India (BoI) had moved the tribunal in April this year seeking to initiate proceedings against FRL. BoI had submitted that the its plea against FRL has no connection with Amazon and the proceedings are in tune with the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) guidelines and the provisions of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC). The bench also dismissed the intervention application filed by e-commerce major Amazon opposing the initiation of insolvency proceedings against FRL. Opposing the petition Amazon alleged that the 26 banks colluded with FRL to deny the US ecommerce giant its rights. Amazon, therefore, on May 12 had filed an intervention application under section 65 of the IBC. Amazon in its plea against the insolvency petition had submitted that the insolvency proceeding would result in handing over the retail assets to the Reliance Industries through at a throwaway price.

However, the tribunal found no merit in Amazon's argument, and held that such allegations are not only speculative but also contemptuous.

Amazon had dragged FRL to arbitration at Singapore International Arbitration Centre (SIAC) in October 2020. Amazon argued that FRL violated their contract by entering into a deal for the sale of its assets to Reliance Retail on a slump sale basis for ₹24,500 crore.

Re below 80 not big concern: Official

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

AS the Indian currency fell to record low and breached the 80-mark against the US dollar, a top government official on Wednesday said it is not a big worry for India and the central bank is taking measures to contain the volatility in the rupee.

According to him, rupee has appreciated significantly against other currencies such as euro, British pound and Japanese yen, making imports in these currencies cheaper than in US dollars. In order to encourage foreign exchange flows, the RBI recently raised the overseas borrowing limits for companies and relaxed norms for foreign investments in government bonds. It had raised the external commercial borrowing (ECB) limit under the automatic route to $1.5 billion from $750 million, along with easing norms for foreign portfolio investments in the debt market. Meanwhile, the official said the government has no plans to come up with special guaranteed FCNR (foreign currency non resident account) deposits of 2013 on account of enough foreign exchange reserves. As per the official, fall in rupee was due to the tightening of interest rate by the Federal Reserve, causing flow of dollars to the US from other countries. USD/INR spot closed 5 paise higher at 79.98 on Wednesday.

"Demand for USD from oil marketing companies and weakness in Yuan added to the demand for USD/INR. Over the near term, we expect USD/INR to trade with an upward bias, driven by fragile global risk sentiments. We could see a range of 79.60 and 80.40 on spot," said Anindya Banerjee, vice -president, currency derivatives & interest rate derivatives at Kotak Securities.

THE Indian IT industry has been struggling to retain talent and for a few quarters now, the top IT companies are reporting over 20% attrition rate.

In a step to retain its talent, Wipro to offer promotions to its employees every quarter starting July, and salary hikes from September. "The quarterly promotions have been effective this month, and also salary increases for those eligible in September 2022," Wipro CEO Thierry Delaporte said, adding this is very new to the industry.

Also, many start-ups are laying off and the talent might move to the IT industry considering its stability.

Windfall taxes slashed, petrol export levy off

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

WITH international crude prices cooling, the government on Wednesday decided to withdraw its levy on petrol exports and cut windfall taxes on other fuels, three weeks after they were first imposed.

The finance ministry reduced windfall tax on diesel and aviation turbine fuel by ₹2 per litre each and scrapped a ₹6 per litre levy on export of petrol. The government also trimmed tax on domestically produced crude by about 27% to ₹17,000 a tonne from ₹23,250 per tonne. The decision will benefit top fuel exporter Reliance Industries and state-owned top crude explorer Oil & Natural Gas Corporation. As the government also waived duty on refined products produced and shipped from special economic zones, Reliance will be the biggest beneficiary as 52% of its refining capacity at its Jamnagar complex falls within an SEZ.

The tax cuts are expected to help improve overall profitability for private and PSU E&P players, said CRISIL Research. Nomura Global Market research opined that they would cut the fiscal windfall from 0.37% of GDP to 0.2%.

MARKETS GAIN FOR FOUR STRAIGHT SESSIONS

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AFTER a significant correction, India's equity market is yet again showing signs of a revival as benchmark indices closed in green for the fourth straight session.

From sliding below the 52,000 level on June 22, the BSE Sensex is now trading above 55,000 level while the Nifty has recovered about 8% from the June lows of 15,183.

The 30-share index on Wednesday surged 630 points or 1.15% to close the session at 55,397.53, while the broader Nifty gained 180 points or 1.10% at 16,520.80, led by strong buying seen across IT and energy stocks amid positive global cues. Foreign inflows too remained positive on Wednesday. "The market is hoping that the US Fed may not be aggressive in hiking rates in its next meeting, while falling commodity & crude oil prices too have moderated the bearish trend in recent sessions," said Shrikant Chouhan, head of equity research (Retail), Kotak Securities.

Vinod Nair, head of research at Geojit Financial Services, said reduced export duty and windfall taxes improved the mood of oil producers. "Strong quarterly results in the US market fueled the rally, while the European market rose as worries over Europe's energy supply eased. If sustained buying from FIIs (foreign institutional investors) prevails, it will provide a cushion to the upward rally in the domestic market," added Nair. Shares of oil exploration and refinery firms were on high demand, with heavyweight Reliance Industries rallying 2.47% and ONGC surging 4%. This rally came after the government slashed windfall tax on petrol, diesel, jet fuel and crude oil. IT majors- Infosys and Tata Consultancy Services- also gained about 2% and 3%, respectively, on Wednesday.

MSIL eyes mid-size SUV space with Grand Vitara

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIA'S largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki (MSIL), in collaboration with Toyota, is eyeing to make a mark in the SUV segment, which is dominated by South Korean duo - Hyundai Creta and Kia Seltos. MSIL on Wednesday unveiled its mid-size SUV - Grand Vitara - the rebadged version of Toyota's Urban Cruiser Hyryder.

The SUV, claiming to give segment leading mileage of 27.97 km/l for the strong hybrid variant, will be manufactured by Toyota Kirloskar Motor in its Karnataka plant as per the global collaboration pact inked between Toyota and Suzuki. The production of the SUV will begin next month and delivery is expected to commence from September.

MSIL holds small share in mid-size SUV space

Currenly, Maruti Suzuki has a small share in the mid-size SUV space as its sole product S-Cross lagged behind Hyundai Creta, Kia Seltos and a bunch of other SUVs

"SUVs and MPVs (multi-purpose vehicles) now account for about 49% of total passenger vehicle (PV) market. The size of the mid-size SUV market is 5.40 lakh units per annum and contributes 18% of the overall PV market. This segment is expected to grow at a CAGR of 10% over the next few years and we are aiming to maximize our presence here with the new Grand Vitara," said MSIL senior executive director (sales & marketing) Shashank Srivastava.

Currenly, Maruti Suzuki has a very small share in the mid-size SUV segment as its sole product S-Cross lagged behind Hyundai Creta, Kia Seltos and a bunch of other SUVs in terms of sales numbers. The automaker has now decided to discontinue it from the market.

Maruti Suzuki MD and CEO Hishashi Takeuchi said in addition to catering to domestic markets, the company will also be exporting Grand Vitara to many global markets.

"Strong-hybrid technology debuts with this model. We are confident, Grand Vitara will accelerate mass electrification and realisation of a carbon neutral society in India," Takeuchi said.

MONEY MATTERS

Exchange rate new sticking point in rupee-rouble trade

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India's notification, issued on July 11 to inter alia facilitate payments to Russia for oil, defence spares, ammunition and associated equipment imports, has failed to break the payment deadlock between the two countries.

The RBI had, through its notification, authorised Indian banks to open Vostro accounts in a foreign partner bank where payments for imports could be made in rupees.

Logically, payments to Russia, pending since its invasion of Ukraine, should have started flowing into these accounts. Sources, however, said that no payment has yet been made.

According to sources, the sticking point now is the rupee-rouble exchange rate. India has reportedly offered to clear the pending payments at the pre-Russia-Ukraine war rate of about 78 roubles to a dollar. Russia, however, is insisting on payment at the current rate of about 55. The Russian side has reportedly asked the Indian interlocutors not to squeeze them from all sides. They argued that crude oil is being supplied to India at a hugely discounted price since the war broke. Any further cut would make the deal unviable for them. It is arguing for payment based on the current exchange rate.

Dirham payment?

Russia has asked India to make part of the payment in UAE's Dirham. India has so far not consented. Russia had earlier asked India to consider payment in Chinese Yuan, but India rejected

India, on the other hand, has pointed out that it has risked global sanctions to continue trade with Russia. India has drawn a lot of criticism from the United States and European countries for buying Russian oil even as the rest of the world imposed sanctions against it for the invasion of Ukraine.

Even as the tussle over the exchange rate continues between the two countries, the quantum of payments due to Russia is accumulating. Besides oil, India imports over 6,000 defence spares from Russia. Sources said there is a pending payment of about US$2 billion on account of defence imports from Russia. Russia is also reportedly uncomfortable taking the entire pending payment in Indian rupees. In terms of value, Russia exports almost twice of what it imports from India. Pressure is mounting on both sides to find a middle ground.

Lack of communication from CoA may cost India World Cup

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

INDIA could be in serious danger of being stripped off the right to host the 2023 FIH men's World Cup. The fate of the quadrennial event, set to be co-hosted by Rourkela and Bhubaneswar from January 13, 2023, could hinge on a planned meeting between an FIH delegation and India's stakeholders, including the central government.

Things came to a head on Wednesday after the International Hockey Federation (FIH) sent out a third communique to the Delhi High Court-appointed CoA since May. In this latest communique, the FIH raised 'concerns' about the hosting of the World Cup because of the unresolved issues apropos amending the HI Constitution as well as conducting elections which could pave the way for functioning HI board.

"We feel ignored, we feel like they are not listening to us." Thierry Weil, the chief executive officer of the world governing body, felt compelled to hit out at the CoA on Wednesday at their glacial pace of working. In a serious charge, he accused the CoA of not replying to any of the three communiques the world body had sent them since May.

WHAT THE FIH HAS SAID
Will send a delegation to discuss with stakeholders in India. If they don't get desired assurances, FIH will seriously consider option B (moving WC out of India)
FIH wants CoA to amend Constitution and conduct elections as soon as possible
Present them with a timeline. If CoA fail to do that, World Cup could be moved Banning national teams not considered. But scenario may change in future

"There was an FIH executive board meeting today," he said. "In it, it was decided to send them another letter because we have not received even a single notification from them. We feel ignored. That's why we decided to send that letter today."

"The crucial thing will be a meeting in India next month," Weil said. "If in that meeting we do not get what we expect in terms of timelines for drafting constitution and conducting elections, then we will need to seriously look at other options." In the letter sent to the CoA on Wednesday, FIH raised the prospect of even meeting with 'the government of India' to assess the ongoing situation. While that meeting in India next month could decide the fate of the upcoming World Cup, Weil refused to put a definitive deadline. "No timeframe, we strongly want to have this World Cup but this can't be at any price," he said.

Why is it so important for the CoA to amend the Constitution as well as conduct elections (FIH have promised all the help necessary in the process)? Because of the World Cup contract. "What's crystal clear was this World Cup was given to Hockey India and that it will be conducted in Odisha," he said. "Binding legal agreement is with HI so we cannot progress unless we have an elected HI board. We have daily communication with HI, we need a functioning board that will be liable to us. For liability reasons, we need an HI board." If these issues aren't resolved quickly, the problems will compound. Not just in relation to holding the World Cup but the long-term futures of all national hockey teams could also be in jeopardy. "A ban will punish and penalise athletes. We don't want to do that. (but) every single thing is related to a matter of time. If it takes too long, we will have a complicated situation."

TOP ATHLETES TEST POSITIVE FOR DOPING

Weeks away from CWG, Dhanalakshmi and Aishwarya fail dope test

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

INDIAN athletics seems to be in shambles. The world championships in Eugene, Oregon, has been disappointing with athletes falling way off their personal bests. On one occasion an athlete pulled out due to injury. As Tokyo 2020 champion Neeraj Chopra gets ready for his event, (July 21, early Friday India time for qualification), the news of top athletes testing positive has tarnished the image of the sport. With Commonwealth Games weeks away, this is the most shameful news possible for the entire India team.

If we consider high-profile athletes getting caught in recent times, the list as it stands, is quite scary. Kawalpreet Kaur, the national record holder in women's discus, MR Poovamma (Asian Games medallist), a top javelin thrower, a former national record holder in javelin Rajender Singh, U23 national champion in men's 5000m...the embarrassment multiplies.

India, which usually tops the list of doping offences in the World Anti-Doping Agency list, is yet to recover from a top quarter-miler Asian Games gold medallist and a javelin star testing positive. And now, the shocking news of sprinter 100m and 200m exponent S Dhanalakshmi and long jumper Aishwarya Babu, who threatened to overhaul 2003 world championships medallist Anju Bobby George's long-standing national record, failing dope test has once again brought the focus back on the menace of doping. Athletics Federation of India officials confirmed the two cases and both of them are provisionally suspended. Dhanalakshmi was part of the 100m and 4x100m team for CWG. Her name, however, did not figure in world championships, despite making the cut in 200m.

S Dhanalakshmi

Interestingly, here the Athletics Federation of India would be piqued too. Dhanalakshmi is a national camper and the AFI always insists on athletes to be part of the camp at all times. Aishwarya on the other hand is a non-camper. There have been quite a few indicators in the case of Aishwarya during the inter-state championships. One of the reasons why AFI had been insisting on athletes to join camp was because of tighter vigil by dope testers, which can act as a deterrent too. However, with a number of national campers testing positive of late, that could be a worrying factor. Dhanalakshmi had been phenomenal this season. She clocked 11.25s and has beaten both Dutee Chand and Hima Das, in 100m as well as 200m. Her timing is the second-best over-all in the country. The Tamil Nadu athlete, however, did not run 100m during the inter-state senior nationals in Chennai.

Another reason that experts felt led to so many athletes testing positive because of covid. There is a theory that a lot of athletes took advantage during the lockdown as there was no testing, especially by international agencies like Athletics Integrity Unit, World Anti-Doping Agency. Even the National Anti-Doping Agency was lax during peak covid because of travel and other restrictions. With more out-of-competition tests conducted now, more athletes are expected to return positive.

Dos Santos dethrones Warholm

AFP @eugene

ALISON Dos Santos ended Karsten Warholm's reign as hurdles king at the world championships on Tuesday while Britain's Jake Wightman won his country's first 1500m gold in 39 years.

WORLD ATHLETICS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Warholm may have been behind one of the most iconic moments in Olympic history when he smashed the 29-year-old world record to win the 400m hurdles in Tokyo in a time of 45.94sec. But he came to Eugene on the back of a hamstring injury which ultimately put paid to his medal attempt. Instead, Dos Santos ran the third fastest time of all time and a championship record of 46.29sec to win gold ahead of Americans Rai Benjamin and Trevor Bassitt.

Family affair

In a bizarre twist, Wightman's father Geoff is in Eugene doing the in-stadium commentary.

Geoff, also his son's coach, was reduced to a cracked voice as he announced to Hayward Field: "That's my son and he's world champion. For him to be part of my journey to get to this point, and actually part of the the actual race itself is so unique," Wightman said of his father.

"I talked to him and he's very happy. I'm glad he showed some emotion."

Carlsen has no motivation to defend crown

AFP @Oslo

CITING a lack of motivation, chess World No 1 Magnus Carlsen on Wednesday announced that he would not defend his world title in 2023, but stressed that he was not retiring from chess.

"I am not motivated to play another match... I simply feel that I don't have a lot to gain. I don't particularly like it," Carlsen said in the first episode of his podcast "The Magnus Effect".

Carlsen has repeatedly hinted that, bored with a title he has held for nearly 10 years, he may give up his throne without a fight.

The 31-year-old crushed Russian Ian Nepomniachtchi 7.5-3.5 in his fifth straight victorious title match last December.

"Although I'm sure a match would be interesting for historical reasons and all of that, I don't have any inclination to play and I will simply not play the match," Carlsen told the podcast.

Carlsen said he had met with representatives from FIDE to inform them of his decision in Madrid in connection to the Candidates Tournament — which decides who gets a chance to challenge the world champion.

India need Kohli at WC, says Ponting

AGENCIES @Dubai

Australia legend Ricky Ponting believes frequent changes in his batting order was responsible for Virat Kohli's prolong lean patch and fears if omitted from the T20 World Cup squad, the star batter might find it difficult to regain his place.

Kohli has struggled for runs during this year's IPL and hasn't scored a century for India in any format for almost three years.

Ponting said instead of changing Kohli's position in the playing XI frequently, the Indian team management needs to give him confidence to get his touch back. "They probably should be trying to find new ways to get him back into the form and help him out," the former skipper told 'The ICC Review'.

"That (moving him up the order) quite often comes at the expense of someone else as well, you are moving someone else around trying to find a spot for Virat. He has opened the batting, he's batted at No.3 in the IPL in the last couple of years and done the same for India.

"Moving him around will make him feel that people are worried about him, and he will be more unsettled."

Ponting feels Kohli should be given a set position in the batting order.

"I will be going the other way. I'll be telling him, 'This is your spot, this is where you're batting, it's not going to change.'" Ponting said the Indian team management will have a huge role to play in Kohli's resurgence.

Decision on Indians in T20 leagues at AGM

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

AS Cricket South Africa (CSA) officially confirmed that IPL franchises owners have bought the ownership of all six teams in its new T20 league set to be played in January 2023, the focus shifts to the upcoming Board of Control for Cricket in India's (BCCI) annual general meeting. There are indications that several member boards are requesting Indian players' participation in their respective domestic T20 leagues, and the BCCI will discuss the issue at the AGM, which most likely will happen in September.

On Wednesday, the CSA announced the six new teams that will compete in the T20 league and coincidentally all happen to be owners of the IPL franchises. And they are: Reliance Industries Limited (Cape Town), Chennai Super Kings Cricket Limited (Johannesburg), RPSG Sports Private Limited (Durban), Sun TV Network Limited (Port Elizabeth), Royals Sports Group (Paarl) and JSW Sports (Pretoria).

That all the teams have been acquired by IPL franchises isn't surprising as some of them have been keen on making their brand global. Kolkata Knight Riders, who incidentally stayed away from the tournament, already have a team in Caribbean Premier League and Major League Cricket (US). Punjab Kings and Rajasthan Royals too have a team each in the CPL. Mumbai Indians too have bought up a team in the UAE League.

According to IPL franchises, some of the county teams are also keen on having a tie-up, but these are still at early stages. With the IPL owners making their imprints in most of the top leagues, the Big Bash and The Hundred are the only exceptions as of now, one question lingers. How long will the BCCI keep Indian players away from such tournaments?

It is understood that in a recent meeting with the other member boards with regards to the Future Tours Programme, the BCCI sought an extended window for the IPL from 2024. While ICC has also granted one, it is learnt that some of these boards' negotiated with the BCCI about releasing a few Indian players for their T20 leagues. There is an agreement between the BCCI and the franchises that Indian players will be available exclusively only for the IPL. With these franchises owning teams elsewhere, this is bound to be tested along with the pressure from other cricket boards.

According to multiple sources in the BCCI, the issue is likely to come up for discussion at the AGM and if state units are unanimous, players could take part in these leagues as early as Big Bash. But, it is not going to be a straightforward decision. India's domestic season coincides with the Big Bash, South Africa league. However, in case there are no domestic matches and A team series, the players can be made available for the CPL and The Hundred.

One of the ideas floated is to give NOCs to players who are no longer in the national scheme of things and have a cap. "Like there is a cap for who can become selectors, a similar one can be had for this. A said player shouldn't have represented India in the last three or five years. Also there are a lot of players who don't feature in the Ranji Trophy and if the states have no plan to include them for red-ball, they can be allowed to feature in these leagues," sources in the know said.

Some of the players who are no longer in the national reckoning have been inquiring about the potential of playing in other leagues with BCCI officials in private. With income also paying a big part in this, in case all parties agree, the BCCI may allow players to feature in either one or at the most two leagues per year.

Chandu Venkateshappa, one of two girls selected from the city for the 2022 Women's T20 Challenge, shares her experience with CE

EXPRESS FEATURES

YEARS ago, when the Indian Premier League was introduced, it was a revolution in the Indian cricket format. When the BCCI introduced the four-game Women's T20 Challenge 2022, it was considered the first step for Women's IPL, which will commence in 2023. Making some news with that is city-based cricketer Chandu Venkateshappa, who was one of two girls selected from the city for the 2022 Women's T20 Challenge.

Playing alongside the stalwarts of international cricket has been a dream come true for Chandu. However, she feels she could have made more out of the opportunity. "I felt my performance was not as great as I wanted it to be," says the off-spinner, who was part of the IPL Supernova. Chandu has been playing state cricket since 2014-2015 and was picked by BCCI for being one of the top wicket-takers, in the BCCI Senior Women's Challenger Trophy and BCCI One-Day Trophy.

Chandu started playing professional cricket at the age of 19, and reaching this level has not been easy for her. The 27-year-old's father, Venkateshappa, works as an attendant at a hospital, and her mother, Lakshmamma, is a homemaker. "It has been very hard for me to get where I am. Only after playing Ranji cricket for nine years, did I get to this level. Initially, my brother used to play cricket and I would watch him, and try to follow along. That is how I got interested in cricket," says Chandu. She was noticed by a coach named Divakar Jain, who conducted a cricket camp for girls in her school in Agara, and she turned out to be the highest wicket-taker.

Irrespective of various challenges, Chandu leads her life with discipline. "The day starts off early for me as I coach children, followed by my own practice, and then I come home. Then I go to the gym, rest for an hour, and go to the gym again," says Chandu, adding she is taking advantage of the off-season right now. She is working towards bouncing back. "I am working on my fitness a lot, and I want to work on my variations and batting," says the wicket-taker.

Dance is therapy for dancer-actor Shobana Chandrakumar Pillai, who talks to CE about her upcoming dance-drama in B'luru

CLASS ACT

MADHUMITA RAJGOPAL

ACTOR and Bharatanatyam performer Shobana Chandrakumar Pillai's visit to the Aadimoolam Vetticode Sree Nagarajaswami temple in Kerala two years ago first sparked her interest in the possibility of a story about Lord Shiva, which later inspired her to create a dance-drama. For the first time, she will be performing 'Thiruchitrambalam' in Bengaluru, which is Pillai's carefully-envisioned performance that will bring an ensemble of artistes and live musicians to Chowdiah Memorial Hall, on July 24. "Bengalureans are welcoming and open-minded. But every audience is ideal to me... my job is to make sure they have a memorable time and take a bit of a story with them back home. I welcome all audiences, the critical, unresponsive, appreciative, and academic," she says.

Pillai has acted in multiple movies and has won various awards for her striking performances. She has also acted in two Kannada movies in the early 2000s with artistes like Vishnuvardhan. In this dance-drama, Pillai, along with her students, traces the stories of Lord Shiva who embodies wisdom. "Shiva is abstract and as a philosophy, breaks and confines into various moulds. We traverse from Darukavanam to the Himalayas, trying to recapture the magic of these mystical places," she says.

Pillai will be travelling to other cities like Mumbai, Coimbatore, Thiruvananthapuram, Kottarakkara, and Hyderabad for this grand performance. While talking about the process of making a dance-drama, Pillai says, "It is at times a creative, literary, and exhilarating process. But some other times, it is frustrating with time constraints and deadlines. It involves reading, writing, acting, teaching, and producing."

The Padma Shri, Kalarathna, and Kalaimamani award winner began her teaching journey with one student in the year 1993. "I like to share my views with like-minded individuals, who are my students at the end of the day. This creates a bond between a guru and shishya. The students at my dance institute are taught to be critical of themselves and appreciative of their peers while also learning the history of poets, their minds, and the meanings associated with the word 'tradition.' All of these are steps to learning," she says.

Although the presence of OTT platforms affects live performances, Pillai believes that she cannot complain. "The canvas of cultural performances is small and few attend such shows. The audiences who come for dance-dramas do so to interact with others and be entertained in a trice. They spend quality time by choosing to be present," she says.

'Thiruchitrambalam' will be staged on July 24 at 6.05 pm, at Chowdiah Memorial Hall. For details, visit bookmyshow.com

5 HEALTH CHECK-UPS EVERY MAN NEEDS TO UNDERGO

Even if you're feeling healthy, it is important to undergo regular check-ups as it helps to diagnose diseases early and reduces the risk of complications

DR VIDYASHANKAR P

MOST people underestimate the importance of regular health check-ups. Often our hectic and erratic lifestyle prevents us from seeking routine preventive care. People usually prefer to visit only when they are seriously ill. In fact, health surveys have shown that men are less likely to visit doctors as compared to women. It is ideal that men above 50 go through a yearly physical examination, while those below 50 go through a physical examination every three to five years. Even if you're feeling healthy, it is important to undergo regular check-ups as it helps diagnose diseases early and reduces the risk of complications.

Based on the individual health conditions, doctors will determine which tests one should have, and how often to have them.

BLOOD SUGAR: Risk factors for developing high blood sugar levels include family history and obesity. The risk of getting diabetes increases as you grow older. Regular screening for diabetes using fasting, postprandial and HbA1C is recommended for individuals above 40 years. With the family history of diabetes, the screening on a regular interval should be started even as early as above 30 years. Monitoring the blood sugar levels is important to reduce and end organ damage.

LIPID PROFILE: All adults over the age of 35 should get their cholesterol checked every 5 years. You might need to begin screening as early as 20 years of age if you have certain risk factors such as diabetes, smoking, a body mass index above 30, family history of stroke, or first-degree relatives who have had deranged cholesterol levels.High cholesterol levels can increase the risk for heart disease and stroke.

BLOOD PRESSURE: Blood pressure is the pressure exerted by your blood on the walls of blood vessels. A high BP puts you at risk of various health conditions like heart disease, kidney disease, and stroke. It is very easy to check your BP at home with the help of an automated apparatus. A normal blood pressure level is less than 120/80 mmHg. As dietary modifications are happening due to cultural changes in society, the onset of hypertension is seen in young adults. Hence, adults above the age of 18 should have their BP checked at least once.

PROSTATE-SPECIFIC ANTIGEN (PSA) TEST: About 1 in 8 men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer during his lifetime. It is one of the top 10 leading cancers for men in India. Prostate cancer screening can help identify cancer early on, when treatment is most effective. It is done with a simple, widely available blood test called Prostate-Specific Antigen (PSA) Test, sometimes combined with a digital rectal exam (DRE) to feel the prostate for abnormalities. It is recommended for all men above the age of 50 on a yearly basis. Individuals with a family history of prostate cancer should begin screening at 40.

THYROID-STIMULATING HORMONE (TSH): Thyroid hormones control the metabolism and contribute to our overall energy levels, nerve functions, and much more. Any irregularities with the thyroid can lead to various health problems and cause weight gain, lethargy, exhaustion, or fatigue. TSH test is done to find out how well the thyroid is working. High and low TSH can affect fertility in men.

Other screening tests:

Men above 50 and individuals with risk factors for heart disease should undergo yearly screening for heart disease with an echocardiogram, treadmill test. Yearly screening for kidney disease with Creatinine and urine test is recommended for diabetic patients. Screening for sexually transmitted diseases should be done in individuals with high-risk behaviour.

Take home message

The focus is on creating a safe and welcoming environment for the mental and physical health of men. Men are more prone to certain disorders as compared to women. The above tests are highly useful in early diagnosis of health problems in men.

Nitrates in meats may up cancer risk

Use of nitrates in processed meat products like ham and sausage increase the risk of colon cancer, the French Agency for Food, Environmental and Occupational Health & Safety (ANSES) has confirmed. Nitrates and nitrites are a type of salts that are added to processed and cured meats to extend shelf life and to give them flavour and a pink colour. Nitrites form nitrates when combined with oxygen. – IANS

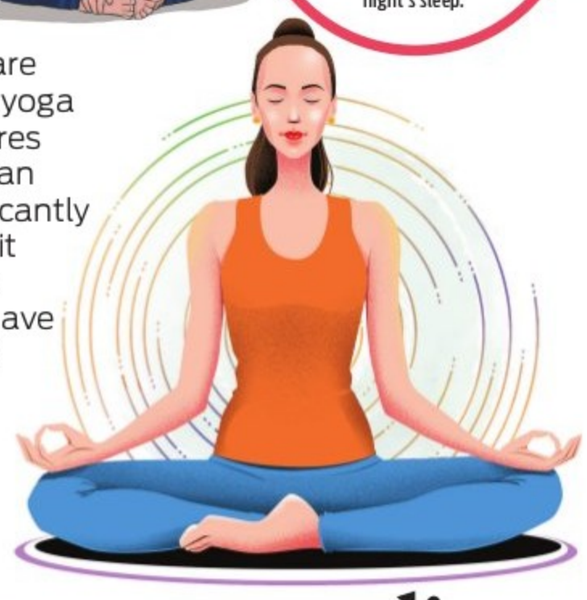
Baddha Konasana

It is a restorative yoga pose that assists with better body alignment and sleeping. It can give PTSD patients a sense of calmness and relaxation. Practising the pose on a daily basis can also be the key to getting a good night's sleep.

Here are some yoga postures that can significantly benefit those who have PTSD



Transcending Trauma

DR RAJEEV RAJESH

POST-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) is a mental health condition triggered by a catastrophic accident, wars, sexual assault or natural disasters that lead to severe anxiety, nightmares and flashbacks.

Yoga can be used as a way to deal with PTSD by regaining control of the nervous system. Yoga combines different postures, breathing and meditation. Studies show that yoga reduces physiological arousal, especially in PTSD patients and improves body awareness and somatic regulation.

Alleviates stress and anxiety

Some usual symptoms include persistent feelings of shame, guilt, anger, or fear, along with difficulty in expressing positive emotions. Yoga can be effective as it works the mind and the body and also assists in creating a sense of peace. A study involving army veterans diagnosed with PTSD undergoing one-hour sessions of yoga daily showed a reduction in anxiety symptoms, respiration rate and symptom severity after one year of follow-up.

An intricate part of yoga is body awareness and its regular practice assists people in developing skills to tolerate and modulate physiologic and affective states, which become deregulated by trauma exposure. Enhanced coping is attained through improved resilience and enhanced social connections that can be achieved in group yoga practice.

Kapal Bhati Pranayama

Kapal Bhati Pranayama or the skull shining breathing technique pranayama helps to improve blood circulation within the body and energises the nervous system. This breathing technique rejuvenates the brain cells and uplifts the mind.

Shavasana

The final resting pose in yoga also known as the corpse pose, which helps repair cells and tissues while relieving stress from the body. This asana also reduces anxiety and blood pressure and is helpful for people going through PTSD.

Tadasana : Focussing on the breath, body and thoughts while practising this pose increases awareness of the present and promotes mental clarity. It's also vital to note that the mountain pose is a good way of improving mindfulness. Mindfulness enhances the quality of life and increases the melatonin levels in the body, helping a person stay relaxed and reduce stress.

1 The whole world seems to be obsessed with running. Does running provide any functional benefits toward weight loss?

I am so glad you asked me this question. Yeah, that's right, half the world seems to be crazy about running, which, in reality, has no functional use to us humans. I think that running is for animals such as horses, and not us humans. We need to work on functional strength, functional flexibility, and skill-based cardio to improve the quality of our life. Running, especially running without any strength training, leads to injuries, and I wouldn't recommend it. If you wish to run, seek guidance from a certified trainer, who will include strength and flexibility in your training session. If a person is running to lose weight, then they should know that it's a calorie deficit and not running, which will help them lose weight majorly.

2 There are so many forms of fasting people speak about. What is the best form of fasting that you would suggest for weight loss?

The best form of fasting would be intermittent fasting. Not two meals, but three meals that are balanced and in moderation. I would suggest an early dinner, as early as 6.30pm, and breakfast at 8.30 or 9am the following day. It is easier to stick to this routine than people would think. A calorie deficit, teamed with a healthy balanced diet, calorie expenditure via exercise, and early dinner will surely lead to weight loss.

3 I am dealing with postpartum baby weight. Why does it take so much time to lose it?

Weight gain doesn't happen overnight, so don't expect to see a change so quickly, especially with limitations post delivery. Sleepless nights and reduced activities dampen the weight-loss process. It's best to consult your doctor and get back to exercising, at the earliest.

Follow a healthy, balanced diet, consume adequate healthy calories, move around in the house as much as possible and stay active, and sleep when your baby sleeps, this way you get to rest and stay energised. It is important to have patience and stay committed to your diet and exercise.

'DEBUTING WITH VIKRANT RONA IS LIKE GETTING A GOLDEN GIFT'

A SHARADHAA

NEETHA Ashok is the latest talent to make a successful transition to the silver screen from small screen. The newcomer was spotted by Sudeep and she will be making her feature film debut alongside him and Nirup Bhandari in the multilingual project Vikrant Rona. For somebody, who had no plans for an acting career, Neetha considers this as destiny. "As a college student I was more into event management. I was a backstage person and never wanted to becoming an actor. It was when I was pursuing my MBA, I was offered a role in a daily soap, and realized that I am good at it. The kind of offers that came to me helped to explore my acting skills in me. Debuting in the big screens with a film like Vikrant Rona further confirms that I'm destined to be an actor."

Neetha recalls the moment she got a message from Sudeep, which she initially thought was a prank. "Sudeep choosing me for a role in Vikrant Rona is an honour and a blessing, but it came with a huge responsibility. A superstar, with 26 years of experience taking the effort to reach a newbie like me shows his greatness. It was his belief in me that made this possible," says Neetha, who was then selected by director Anup Bhandari after an audition. "I am a huge fan of Anup's debut directorial, Rangitaranga. He did not allow me to take my role lightly and made me attend workshops, and it helped to learn a lot. Later, I met Nirup Bhandari, who was more of a guide through the shooting process. Overall the journey has been an exciting roller coaster ride." She shares that working with experienced people helped a lot. "Everyone created a comfort zone for me. I learnt a lot from Sudeep on the set. It is my hard work and luck that brought me here. It felt like I was gifted with a golden spoon," she says.

Nirup Bhandari, Neetha Ashok and Sudeep

A still from Vikrant Rona

...says Neetha Ashok talks about her dream debut, working with Sudeep and Anup Bhandari, and more

Neetha shares very little details about her role. "I play Aparna Ballal (a) Panna, who unearths Vikrant's story and presents it to the audience. She is a Kannadiga born and brought up in Mumbai, is western in her culture and speaks a mix of Hindi and Kannada. She is a curious girl, who loves to explore new places. She is courageous and the soul of Vikrant Rona."

Vikrant Rona has been planned to be released in multiple languages and Neetha has been dubbed in Kannada, English, and Hindi. "I'm eagerly waiting for the film's release, to watch the film in 3D," she says, adding, "While the waiting period from shooting to release date was one of the challenges, managing the hairdo, for the character was a task by itself."

According to Neetha, Vikrant Rona is a 'wholesome package'. "It has elements of mystery, thriller, action, and emotions. Vikrant Rona backed by Jack Manjunath, created by Sudeep and Anup Bhandari will be a film that caters to all kinds of audiences. The visuals will blow your mind. The set work of Shivakumar and cinematography of William David are amazing and the music of Ajaneesh Loknath will give goosebumps."

Neetha admits that the road ahead will be tough for her. "I'm going to take it as it comes. There is pressure to be wise in picking my next project, but I want to work on all types of films. I just hope for the best," she signs off.

REALLY, REALLY LOOKING FORWARD TO FATHERHOOD: RANBIR KAPOOR

SHILAJIT MITRA AND MURALI KRISHNA

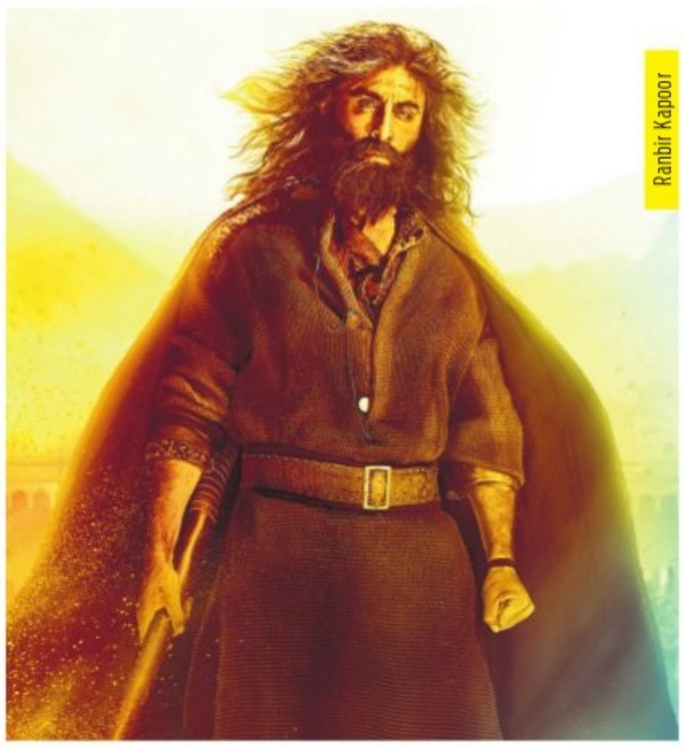
RANBIR Kapoor sits in a black tee, blue jeans and a dark textured bomber jacket, smiling, fraternizing, cool as a cat before his first release in four years. We're at Stage 3 of Yash Raj Studios in Mumbai; it's a typically gloomy, rain-lashed July afternoon. Outside, along the studio premises, Yash Chopra leans musingly on a vintage movie camera. The filmmaker's glistening bronze statue is so lifelike you'd be tempted to pause and click a picture, to the annoyance of alarmed guards.

Yash Raj is an old home for Ranbir. Two of the actor's early films, the hit Bachna Ae Haseeno (2008) and the critically-acclaimed Rocket Singh: Salesman of the Year (2009), were produced by YRF, while his father, late actor Rishi Kapoor, was a veteran of the banner.

One can imagine both Rishi Kapoor and Yash Chopra approving of Ranbir's latest tryst with YRF. Shamshera, a big, broad-canvas action adventure, is meant as a tribute to the glory days of Hindi commercial cinema. It's also a major turnaround for Ranbir, who seemed stuck, by his own admission, in a loop of comparable coming-of-age roles.

"Shamshera came at the right time in my life," Ranbir says. "When I had started working, cinema had changed and directors were seeing me in certain roles. Somewhere in my head I'd typecast myself." He was offered Shamshera in 2018, a few months before the release of Sanju, and he immediately agreed. "I knew what opportunity it had for me as an actor. It's a multi-genre film. The script had this all-out, roller coaster action bonanza amusement park vibe."

It also had history and context. Set in 1871, Shamshera unfolds in the fictitious city of Kaza, where a rebellious warrior clan is imprisoned under the Criminal Tribes Act of the British Rule. Ranbir essays the double role of Shamshera, a dacoit leader, and his son Balli. The antagonist is Shuddh Singh, a brutish and conniving 'daroga' played by Sanjay Dutt.



Ranbir Kapoor

Ranbir Kapoor comes of age in 2022, with two massive films and fatherhood on the cards. The actor, along with Vaani Kapoor, Sanjay Dutt and director Karan Malhotra, talks about Shamshera and reviving the Hindi commercial potboiler

"We latched on to the idea of a historical point and created our own world," shares director Karan Malhotra, who co-wrote the screenplay with his wife and collaborator Ekta Pathak Malhotra. "The story takes off from some unexpected incidents that happened in our country."

With its evocation of train heists, banditry and despotic overlords, we ask Ranbir if he sees Shamshera as a Western. "I may see it like that because we watch those films but this is actually a very desi story. There were tribes in our past who were enslaved and leaders who fought for freedom. There is a back-story to every layer in the film. It's not some random dystopia."

That world-building meant a 140-day shooting schedule in Mumbai and Ladakh, hundreds of cast and crew, and a reported budget of Rs. 150 crores. Shamshera, one of YRF's biggest bets since Thugs of Hindostan (2018), is being viewed as Hindi cinema's response to the KGFs and RRRs of the world. It's another outsized period gamble for Ranbir, who had a disastrous experience with Anurag Kashyap's Bombay Velvet back in the day.

"All filmmaking is a risk," he says of his growing commercial acumen in picking projects. "The kind of work I put into Bombay Velvet or Sanju.... I can't say I worked less there and more here. But as I'm growing older and spending more time in this profession, I am realizing that you need to know your people, your audience. It may be a late realization in my case but I am understanding it more and more."

Ranbir, however, is loath to use the term 'commercial Hindi film' lightly. In the Bollywood context, it has long meant an indication to the viewer to 'leave their brains at home'. Shamshera, he assures instead, has a 'thought and design element' behind every aspect of the filmmaking. This extends to seemingly conventional characters like Sona, a dancer played by Vaani Kapoor. "There's a whole arc involving her as she becomes the strength and weakness of Ranbir's character Balli," Vaani shares. "She is not a prop in the film."

As a belated action hero, Ranbir is thrilled to add new shades to his acting persona, from young boy to seething rebel. It's an admittedly big year for the actor. Famously absent from social media, he is presently all over it, with two separate news cycles hyping up Shamshera and Brahmastra. Overpowering both, of course, is the interest in his personal life. Ranbir married girlfriend Alia Bhatt in April this year; last month, the couple announced their first pregnancy. The feeling of approaching fatherhood consumes his every waking hour. "There is no other feeling I am looking forward to," he says, chuckling a bit as he strains for fresh adjectives. "It's the greatest gift. Both Alia and I have been blessed with it and we are really, really looking forward to it."

Sanjay Dutt

A CONVERSATION WITH SANJAY DUTT

Your performance in KGF: Chapter 2 is still being raved about. How different is Daroga Shuddh Singh from the villainous characters you've played in the past?

Each character I play is entirely contrasting from the other. If you see Kancha Cheena from Agneepath (2012), he had a complex and was a tough guy. In KGF 2, if you notice Adheera, he was a larger-than-life character and loves KGF. In Shamshera, Karan wanted this character in a different zone and worked that hard to make Shuddh Singh a crafty and tough-to-beat person. I would say my character in Shamshera is indeed a mix of all the crazy stuff I have done in the past.

What are your thoughts about the current trend in Hindi cinema? Do you think Shamshera will bring back the audience to theatres?

I think the timing has been right because the audience really enjoyed an action spectacle like KGF 2. We hope that Shamshera is a new experience among all the films we have watched recently. I believe it has all the emotions of the recent films and I think it's a new animal.

How do you sum up your journey of Shamshera?

I have already worked with Karan (in Agneepath). I am a kind of an actor, who surrenders to my director. If need be, I will share my ideas or suggestions with my directors and until now, they all have been welcoming. Karan makes absolutely commercial yet larger-than-life films. In his films, you don't get to see his heroines dancing around the trees as they will also have strong and powerful roles. He is a man of great vision, and conviction and I am sure he has got the best out of us. I am hoping that Shamshera pays off because we worked hard on it.
